AGREE ON NEW GAS RATES

COMMISSION, CITIES TO ACT ON COMPROMISE

Considered Victory for Consumers; Substantial Reduction

Victory for Marion and 37 other Ohio cities which have been fighting during the last two years against increased gas rates is now practically assured as the result of a tentative agreement reached in negotiations at Columbus last night.

A new rate schedule, which provides a general reduction which will benefit chiefly the small consumer, was agreed upon by representatives of the cities and of the Logan Gas Co. following compromise negotiations which began two days ago and came to a climax yesterday. The first public intimation that a compromise was in sight came when the hearing on rate protests in progress before the State Utilities Commission was adjourned at request of the gas company attorneys.

Public Victory, Claim

Although some concessions are made to the gas company, the proposed settlement as a whole is decidedly advantageous to the public and will result in a substantial reduction of gas bills.

Should the agreement be finally consummated and officially approved, it will do away with the present rates under which the Logan Gas Co. is now maknig collections in Marion and the other cities and substitute the lower schedule.

The new rates, which must be submitted to councils in each of the 38 cities, including Marion, and are to be effective for two years will make $1.10 the minimum charge and give consumers 2,000 feet of gas monthly for this cost, a saving of 32 cents on 2,000 feet in comparison with the present rate. On 3,000 feet the saving will be 42 cents; 4,000 feet, 32 cents, 5,000 feet, 23 cents; 6,000 feet, 17 cents, 7,000 feet, 12 cents and 8,000 feet seven cents.

It is estimated that these reductions will result in a saving of approximately $500,000 for gas consumers in the 38 cities during the two year period and that Marion's share of this saving will be about $40,000.

These figures came this morning from Grant E. Mouser, Jr., former Marion solicitor who has taken a leading part

Hill Anti-Sunday Dance Bill Step Nearer Defeat Following Hearing, Belief

Most Decisive Blow Delivered by Senator George H. Bender, Cleveland, in Form of Petition Against Measure Signed by 8,300 Clevelanders

Another round in the battle over the Hill Sunday dance bill was staged last night when the measure came up for its first public hearing before the Senate county affairs committee at Columbus and when the gong sounded the proposal seemed to be one step nearer a knockout.

The most decisive blow was delivered by Senator George H. Bender, chairman of the committee, when he presented a petition signed by 8,300 Cleveland residents putting them on record as being in favor of Sunday dancing.

This petition was regarded as a direct answer to H. E. Hill, Marion County representative and author of the bill, who had declared that he had never heard of any "self-respecting" community wanting a dance hall open on Sunday.

"I regard Cleveland as self-respecting," Bender stated. "These people declare their sole recreation is dancing and they can find no time to dance except on Sunday."

Hill Takes Floor

Immediately after Bender's remarks, Mr. Hill took the floor and explained that he meant that no community had ever asked to have a Sunday dance hall put there when it didn't have one already.

Although hope for having the bill pass the senate appears to be waning, Mr. Hill and his supporters have by no means given up the fight. This was evident at last night's hearings, when advocates of the bill advanced spirited arguments in its behalf. Hill was the only person from Marion included in the list of debaters.

Advocates of the bill occupied the floor during the entire hearing and when Chairman Bender finally ordered an adjournment, he announced that another session will be held soon to hear from the opposing side.

Second Hearing

It is likely that this second hearing will be followed by the committee filing its report with the senate. Bender is openly opposed to the bill and is said to be supported by a majority of the committee members.

Cleveland's dance hall situation was one of the chief subjects of last night's discussion.

Among the speakers favoring the proposal was Mrs. Clara Wood Derr, legislator from Cleveland who cast the deciding vote which passed the bill with a majority of one in the house.

"I have lived for 22 years at E. 90th-st and Hough-av and within two blocks of my home are three of the largest dance halls in Cleveland," Mrs. Derr said.

"These dance halls run seven nights a week. I've had complaint after complaint from the home owners, who ask me, 'Can't we have one quiet un-

SCHOOL SAVINGS TOTAL NEARS $30,000 MARK

Students Being Urged To Bank Heavily During Next Two Weeks

School savings bank deposits will be close to $30,000 at the close of the first year of this system of savings in the Marion public schools.

With the deposits made Wednesday the total amount on deposit in the Citizens' Building & Loan Co., where the accounts are kept, amounts to $28,693.61.

Harding High School deposited $142.53 yesterday and the grade schools, $751.64.

Word was going out through the schools today calling the attention of students to the opportunity to boost the school savings total over the $30,000 mark during the next two weeks. This is the goal at which the students are aiming.

School savings started in Marion on Apr. 8, 1926, when the first deposit was made. Every week of the school year since that date from $700 to $1000 has been deposited by the students. The actual deposits run well over the $30,000 mark now, but withdrawals have cut down the amount now in the bank to $28,693.61.

With the schools closed for the spring vacation next week there will be no deposit in the school savings system. The next deposit will be made on Apr. 6, and it is this deposit that students are hoping will send the bank's total over the $30,000 mark.

TONG WARFARE BREAKS OUT AS PACT EXPIRES

Five Chinese Killed and Three Wounded in First Clashes

New York, Mar. 24—Incorporating in its scope the Chinatowns of major cities from Chicago to Boston the On Leong-Hip Sing tong feud broke out afresh today after peaceful interim of two years duration and resulted in the death of five Chinese and the wounding of three others, one of which has slight chance of recovery.

Peace agreements of the rival tongs dated Mar. 23, 1925 expired yesterday and today the Chinese quarters of New York, Brooklyn, Newark, N. J., Manchester, Conn., Boston, Mass., Cleveland, O., Pittsburgh, Pa., and Chicago were the objects of constant police control.

Boston Peaceful

Slaying of tongmen were reported from Manchester, Newark and Chicago, one each and two at Brooklyn. Wounds from revolver bullet were sustained by two Pittsburgh Chinese and a Cleveland laundryman, who is not expected to live. Boston authorities predicted little disturbance there forming their opinion from the peacefulness of Chinatown's surface.

Two New York Chinese and a Meriden, Conn., taxi driver were placed under arrest at New Haven, Conn., in connection with the slaying at Manchester. Facts surrounding the case included the arrival and departure at the hand laundry where the murder occurred of a Chinese in a taxicab. The driver under questioning stated that he had secured his fare at Meriden in transfer from another taxi.

Murmurs "Tong, Tong"

The Chicago victim met his death in a Chinese gambling room. Several East Side citizens of Cleveland were held for questioning there in connection with the shooting of Jim Yee in his laundry. On the way to the hospital he kept moaning, "Tong, tong."

Immigration officers have taken a hand here and are constantly patrolling the narrow crooked streets of Chinatown, keeping crowds moving and preventing if possible an open outbreak of tong warfare.

AIR-COOLED EIGHT FORD HOLE ACE, OLDFIELD SAYS

Henry Waiting Until He Needs It, Veteran Race Driver Reports

Detroit, Mar. 24—Henry Ford has an eight cylinder air cooled motor that can be built into a car as cheap as the present Ford model, Barney Oldfield, veteran racing driver declared today.

"It has been three years since I saw Henry, but he showed me at that time an eight cylinder motor that I liked very much," Oldfield said. "I asked him why he didn't build it and sell it, thinking perhaps it would cost too much.

"His reply was that he could build a car with that motor as cheap as his present Model T Ford. When I asked him why he didn't do it, he said that he was going to wait three or four years until I need it."

The sale of the arms was reported and denied when President Coolidge lifted the arms embargo to Nicaragua some weeks ago. PERSONAL INJURY SUIT IS SETTLED IN COURT

Merchants' Delivery Service Confesses Judgment of $175 Asked by Boy's Father

Injuries sustained by Donald Landon, age seven, when hit by a motor truck operated by the Merchants Delivery Service on Mar. 14 resulted in a damage suit for $175 being filed in Municipal Court yesterday afternoon by the boy's father, Roy Landon. Settlement was effected immediately after the suit was filed when Albert Jennings, representing the delivery firm, confessed judgment and agreed to pay costs of the suit.

The accident occurred on Jefferson-av according to the account entered in the petition, when it was said the boy's right leg was fractured and his face cut and bruised. He was playing on the street at the time and the petition charged that the accident was due to failure of the truck driver to exercise proper caution.

The $175 claim set up in the petition covered expense of medical service, figured at $120.

The law firm of Wiedemann & Patton represented the Landon boy.

CASTORIA

The Young Mother.

The ills of infants and children should be so well known to the youngest of mothers that a reminder or a repetition of the symptoms of illness seems unnecessary, yet there are some mothers who overlook a feverish condition, a little colic, or a disposition to be irritable. If not corrected they may lead to serious sickness. And to correct them, to bring Baby back to its happy self, is so easy by the use of Castoria—a medicine prepared just for infants and children. It will regulate the bowels (not force them), aid digestion and so bring quiet and rest.

Fletcher's Castoria has been doing this for over 30 years; regulating the stomach and bowels of infants and children. It has replaced the nauseating Castor Oil, so-called Soothing Syrups, poisonous Paregoric and other vicious concoctions in the homes of true and honest mothers—mothers who love their children.

Those mothers will give their babies foods and medicines especially prepared for infants and children.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

ELECTION OF NEW POST HEAD PLANNED AT MEET

American Legion Organization Arranges To Fill Vacancies Created by Resignation

Arrangements for election of a new commander of Bird-McGinnis Post, No. 162, of the American Legion, to fill the vacancy left by the recent resignation of A. W. Sandrock, were made at a meeting held last night. The election will take place at the next regular meeting, April 13.

Sandrock's resignation was due to his leaving the city to accept a position as funeral director with an undertaking firm at Barberton.

Membership enrollment of Bird-McGinnis Post registered an increase of more than 10 per cent since the last meeting two weeks ago, reports last night showed. This increase is the result of a membership campaign launched several months ago in hope of boosting the enrollment to the highest figure in the history of the local legion organization. The campaign will continue throughout the year.

C. H. Howard, vice commander, is in charge of the Post's affairs while arrangements are under way for election of a successor to Sandrock.

Would Tax Rouge

Miss Helen Thompson

Madison, Wis., Mar. 24—Miss Helen Thompson, the only woman member of the Wisconsin legislature, is conducting a red hot legislative fight for the taxation of cosmetics and perfumes.

"I don't use them and I believe they are a luxury that should be taxed," declares Miss Thompson. "I want the men to support me in this fight. Most of the women are opposed to the bill."

Miss Thompson's bill provides for a 10 per cent tax on these articles. She points out that in nearly every state in the union autoists have to pay a gasoline tax, because in many cases the autmobile is a luxury and that the same principle of taxation should apply to cosmetics.

"Cosmetics are all right," continues Miss Thompson. "They make one appear to be what they are not in reality."

Before being elected to the Wisconsin legislature, Miss Thompson served for twenty-five years as a school teacher. She is the owner of a large hotel, which she operates at Park Falls, Wisconsin.

Policeman Says He heard Youth Making Plans for Holdup

Detroit, Mar. 24—Willam R. Barton, 22, who admittedly was expelled from the University of Wisconsin three weeks ago for drinking, was in jail here today facing a robbery armed charge.

Barton said he got the revolver from Peter Marshall, 30, Receiving Hospital employee, at the Morga Hotel, where both were rooming. Marshall also was arrested.

Barton said he is the son of Samuel Barton, president of the Barton Paper Co., 5736 Midway Park, Chicago.

NEW PIPE LINE INSTALLED TO UNION STATION

Two-Inch Line Is Laid to Provide Adequate Supply; Railroad News

A new two-inch water line, extending from the W. Center-st main to the Union Station was installed yesterday. The new line will take the place of the old pipe, which was believed to be leaking.

For some time, the Union Station has not received city water at the proper pressure and it was decided a few days ago that this fact was due to a leaky pipe leading into the station from the main line. By installing a new and larger pipe and attaching it to the line leading through the meter, it is thought that the proper service will be received.

During the installation of the new line, which runs along the pavement between the parking space and street leading to the depot on the east side of the station platform, cars were unable to park in their usual places.

The work was started yesterday morning and was completed last night. Fifteen men were on the job.

All Trains on Time

With the flood waters rapidly receding over Ohio, local officials today announced that all passenger trains operating through Marion were on time. The trains have been running on regular schedule during the last few days, despite the high water conditions. The water was reported over the Erie tracks near Green Camp at one time, but it was not high enough to stop traffic.

Repair Report

Class A railroads on May 1 had 9,518 locomotives in need of repairs, according to a report received here today.

Honor Roll

At the close of the year 8,022 retired employes were on the Pennsylvania Railroad's roll of honor. During the year 993 names were added to the pension rolls while 765 employes previously retired, died, leaving the net increase in the roll of honor 228.

The oldest person now on the rolls attained the age of 98 years during 1926, it was reported here today.

Total pension payments in 1926 amounted to $5,175,646, an increase as compared with 1925, of $113,649.

Nation Soon Will Be Run By "Acting" Government

Executive Chiefs Will Be Scattered Hither and Yon in Short Time

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Mar. 24—As usual during the vacation season, the country will be in the hands of an "acting" government before many more weeks are out.

Executive chiefs will be scattered hither and yon. Indeed, they're begun to leave already. It's a little early for the summer lay-off, but a department head generally can think up some tour of inspection he has to take when he wants to get away from Washington. These official tours merge into vacations, and the average vacation winds up with another official tour. He isn't a very ingenious cabinet member who can't think up excuses to keep him away from his desk from about the first of April until hard onto Thanksgiving day.

For awhile in the spring and awhile in the fall a first assistant per department ordinarily presides as "acting" boss. But these upper assistants get pretty well fagged out during the mid-summer months, too, and there's quite a spell during the dog days when you can't find anybody but some permanent under-secretary on the job, look where you will.

THE president's vacation, to be sure, has a good many strings on it. To a great extent, he takes his work along with him. Nevertheless, Rudolph Forster, his executive secretary, who always stays and swelters in Washington, is expected to save "the old man" all the worry he can. Rudolph can hardly be described as an "acting" president, even when he's alone in the capital, but he settles a good many presidential questions for all that.

A cabinet member, however, when he tears out for Europe or the Caribbean or the Philippines, is about as free as a bird, and the chap who "acts" for him in his absence is temporarily, the real thing.

The beauty of it is that business runs right along just as smoothly, with not a cabinet member in town, as if the whole kit of them were punching the clock regularly, morning noon and night, every day. Nobody ever heard of an executive department blowing up because the "chief" was away. For that matter, why should it? The "acting" understrapper carries the load anyway. He can carry it rather better by himself than he can with a political theorist telling him how. What he says is "Hoocanah!" when he sees the boss packing his suitcase, and wishes him a fine trip and a long stay.

THE capital end of town has its own peculiar off-season aspect, just as the executive end does.

It isn't as dead as you might think. The capitol building's pretty dull, except for tourists, but the senate and house office buildings buzz right along.

Most of the lawmakers have gone home but the wise ones all have left clerical forces to keep ears to the ground while they're gone. A congressman not only needs to know what his state or district wants; he also needs to know, here in Washington, can it be done?

A good secretary's business is to keep him posted—to let him know what trades are being made and what deals are being framed up and what help he's got to give to somebody else in order to get the other fellow to help him.

THIS dickering's done mainly in Washington and the right kind of a secretary knows all about it, the year 'round.

Congress' secretarial group is important enough to be known as the "third house." It includes some mightily slick young men and women, and it's busier, if anything, while other people are taking their vacations, as it can work more quietly, than it can next winter, when the regular session will be on.

So, during vacation, a capable secretary's a kind of "acting" congressman.

SUPREME court justices are about the only functionaries in Washington who act exclusively for themselves. When they take a vacation, the judicial branch of the government simply shuts down.

Hang a horseshoe over the door, but be sure to lock the door.

BILL TO GUIDE HORSE RACING RECOMMENDED

Establishes State Commission To Regulate "Sport of Kings"

Mar. 24—Unanimous ... passage of the ... for a state commission ... racing, dog races ... in Ohio was reached ... judiciary committee ... on the bill, the committee listened to an address by Attorney Horace Kerr, Columbus, in support of the measure and made a number of changes in the bill.

The bill, as amended by the committee, authorizes appointment by the governor of a state racing commission of three members to regulate racing throughout Ohio, grant and revoke licenses to operate race tracks and to fix dates for race meets. Parimutuel betting and all other forms of gambling in connecting with races are prohibited.

On Higher Plane

Attorney Kerr, representing the Ohio State Racing Association, predicted that enactment of this proposed law would "place racing in Ohio on a higher plane and largely overcome present objections" to conditions surrounding race meets in the Buckeye state.

Unlicensed racing and illegal wagering will continue, Kerr decared, unless a measure of this kind becomes a law. He said the measure was favored in the interests of clean sports.

In view of the fact that the bill provides for payment into the state's general revenue fund of license fees, ranging from $150 to $500 for each day various race meets are held, and for 10 per cent of the gross admission receipts, Kerr predicted that the state, under the proposed law, would receive from $250,000 to $750,000 annually.

jazzy evening at home with our families?"

Miss Reams Again

Miss Evangeline Reams of Columbus, superintendent of a rescue home for girls, again spoke in behalf of the bill. It was Miss Reams who startled the house committee several weeks ago at a hearing on the bill by declaring that she never even played "ring around the rosy" in her youth, much less danced.

"You may say I'm an old maid, but I've had my chance and I wouldn't go with a young man who went to a dance," she informed the Senate committee last night. "Dancing is hell. That may be speaking plain, but it's true."

C. E. Knapp of Lodi, member of the house of representatives, also stated his views with strong emphasis. Talk of regulation of dance halls is far fetched, he declared.

"As well try to regulate a powder mill in hell as to regulate a dance hall," was another of his assertions.

Mr. Hill, author of the bill, which proposes to prohibit dances and roller skating on Sunday in Ohio, reiterated arguments which he advanced at former hearings and on the floor of the house.

He said that the proposal is primarily intended to "protect the sanctity of the American Sabbath against commercialism."

The Marion man again delved into history to show that Sabbath desecration had resulted in wrecking nations and civilization in ancient times.

Diapepsin is probably the most powerful aid there is when the stomach seems worn out. It enables you to get away with foods that so often cause the utmost misery. Pie, cheese, cream, sausage, seasoned stews and foods that frighten a dyspeptic even to think of, are as modified milk to a cooing infant when followed by Diapepsin.

A host of people are denying themselves half the pleasure of life hunting for patent, prepared foods that don't meet their needs. For after all it is the state of the stomach secretions that counts. Diapepsin adds to the secretions and actually works on the starches, meats, eggs, cream, etc., and that is what a tired, feeble stomach needs.

Other demands were: Immediate protection of all foreigners and foreign property; and "the reporting on board of Cantonese generals in command before 11 p. m., tonight to negotiate respecting the outrages committed."

Negotiations with the Cantonese were held on board the British cruiser, Emerald.

NAVY ORDERS MORE SHIPS TO SHANGHAI

Alarmed by disquieting reports from China, the navy department today ordered additional warships to proceed to Shanghai.

The light cruiser division three, consisting of the U. S. S. Richmond, flagship, and the Marblehead and Cincinnati, under command of Rear Admiral J. R. Y. Blakely, will leave at once from Honolulu, where it has been held in readiness for emergency duties.

Admiral E. W. Eberle, chief of naval operations, signed the order. He gave no explanation, but it was issued shortly after receipt of the dispatch from Admiral C. S. Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet, who told of conditions at Nanking.

NANKING FALLS TO CANTONESE

Shanghai, Mar. 24—Cantonese troops occupied the great commercial city of Nanking today. Gen. Sun Shuan-Fang and the northern defenders fled towards Kompo.

Chinkiang also has fallen into the hands of the Cantonese after desultory skirmishing.

About 100 Americans, who were in Nanking when the southerners seized the city are coming to Shanghai, some of them arriving today. Most of them are missionaries.

United States Marines have overtaken a sector in the "front line" defenses of the foreign settlement.

This city is quieter. Shops have reopened throughout the foreign settlement and the Chinese quarter, except in the Chapei district where sniping and disorders have continued. Omnibus service has been resumed.

A false report was circulated that the Americans were evacuating the city. Its source is unknown.

One United States marine was wounded during the day. He was Private Kranz. While standing upon the customs jetty Kranz was struck in the shoulder by a stray bullet. He was treated on board the Pittsburg, the flagship of Admiral Williams. His wound is not serious.

Fighting with heavy casualties is reported from the Chuyung-Lishin sector, south of Nanking.

Base for Revolution?

Agitators are making much of the manifesto issued by Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi, of the Cantonese forces, declaring that Shanghai will be used as the base for a world revolution. This declaration is in line with the propaganda of the communists that the battleground of the proletariat against imperialism has swept from Russia to China.

The decision to send United States Marines to support the British flank in the "front line" followed news from that "front" that a large force of armed Nationalists had appeared on the bank of Soochow Creek, opposite the position of the British marines along the Markham-rd.

The unions have called off the strike in Shanghai and the workers are expected to return to their posts tomorrow.

Pressure was brought upon the general labor union by Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi to compel a cessation of the strike. While such an order was issued trouble looms on account of the refusal of union leaders to recognize any authority.

in the fight for rate reductions from the beginning and who also figured prominently in effecting the compromise agreement.

No Refunds

According to the arrangement, the company will make no refunds for the excess collections made under the present rate schedule since June, 1925. The Logan Gas Co. filed a bond under provisions of the Pence law to guarantee refunds in case the rates should be ruled out.

It was agreed that refunds would not be required when the gas company consented to eliminate the service charge and also furnished a guarantee that numerous pipe line extensions and other service improvements will be made as soon as the rate controversy is at an end.

The rate fight, during the two years or more that it lasted, has cost the company more than $200,000, the records showed, and this was also taken into consideration in eliminating the refund requirement.

The new schedule, according to the agreement, provides for a flat rate of 55 cents for each 1,000 cubic feet of gas with a minimum charge of $1.10. The present rates are 95 cents for the first 500 cubic feet, 45 cents per 1,000 for the next 4,500; 50 cents for the next 5,000; 55 cents for the next 5,000 and 60 cents for all over 15,000.

Monthly Basis

All of these figures are on a monthly basis.

Other city solicitors who tentatively agreed to the new schedule are to meet Mouser, now an assistant in the attorney general's office, and gas company officials in Columbus on April 8, when it is expected the schedule will be ratified and presented to the state utilities commission.

"It has been the aim of attorneys for the cities to obtain the best rates possible for the small consumer," Mouser said today in detailing the compromise agreement. "The new officers of the gas company have been disposed to give a rate which compares favorably with the rates in other communities and has assured us that service extensions will be made immediately."

$300,000 Excess Total

The entire refund, had it been required, would have totalled about $300,000 for the 38 cities and would have averaged about $6 to the individual, Mouser stated. Rather than continue the controversy, which has been costly to both the gas company as well as the cities, it was thought best to accept the compromise terms. Had the fight been carried through to a final decision, it might not have resulted in terms for the public as satisfactory as those effected in the compromise the City Solicitors state.

Governor Donahey was brought into the negotiations yesterday and stated that he would agree to the present tentative settlement for the smaller communities if the larger and more influential localities agreed through their solicitors.

Start of Fight

Plans of the gas company to require all of its customers to pay a 75-cent service charge started the rate controversy back in 1924. This proposed charge, which was to be collected whether or not any gas was used, brought immediate protests from the cities affected.

Marion, with City Solicitor Mouser acting as its representative, was one of the first to take action. Other municipalities lined up for the battle and protests against the new rate schedule were filed with the State Utilities Commission.

Before the commission acted upon the protest, which was in the form of a motion filed by Mouser, the gas company withdrew the protested schedule and filed a substitute, known as schedule No. 7. This contains the rates which the company has been collecting under bond since June, 1925.

Schedule No. 7

Schedule No. 7, filed on Feb. 7, 1925 was to become effective on June 1 of the same year. The cities, under leadership of Mouser, continued their fight by filing a motion against the new rates, which eliminated the 75 cent service charge and substituted a minimum charge of 85 cents for the first 500 feet of gas used.

As the contest over this schedule proceeded with indications that it would continue for an indefinite period the gas company filed a guarantee refund bond of $400,000 and began collection of the new rates on June 7, 1925.

Third Schedule

Then on Nov. 14 of that year the company submitted another schedule, which proposed further rate increases, including a $1 minimum charge for the first 500 feet of gas instead of 95 cents as provided in Schedule No. 7. The rate for all beyond this was to be 60 cents for each 1,000 feet. This substitute schedule was designated as No. 8.

Although this proposed substitute schedule was later ruled out, collections were made on it for two months beginning March 18, 1926. The utilities commission finally decided, however, that a new schedule of rates can not be put into effect while a former schedule is in litigation and No. 8 was accordingly ruled out. The gas company was required to make refunds for the excess collections.

Schedule No. 7 again became effective and collections under its provisions resumed. These rates will continue in force until the present negotiations for adjustment are definitely concluded.

HERE ARE COSTS UNDER NEW RATE

A comparison of monthly gas charges, figured on both the present rates and the schedule agreed upon in yesterday's compromise, is given below:

77-Year-Old Man Tells Remarkable Experience in Overcoming Chronic Kidney Disease.

Trenton, N. J.—Mr. William Holland, of 220 Garfield Avenue, this city, is joyous of his new-found health after many years of suffering from chronic kidney and bladder inflammation. In an interview, Mr. Holland states:

"For years I had been suffering from a certain form of chronic bladder inflammation. At night I had to get up from 10 to 12 times. I could not sleep or walk, I was very weak, and my constitution was getting very low. I had heard about Matamel and decided to try it. I am 77 years of age, and today I can walk, eat and sleep well. I feel 50 years younger. My friends ask me what I have done to look so well and happy, and I tell them it was Matamel that helped me."

Matamel is not a patent medicine—it contains no drugs. 200,000 packages already sold, and now hundreds find relief daily. If your sleep is interrupted. If you have awful pains in back, arms or legs, swellings, headaches, dizzy spells and rheumatic pains why not give Matamel a trial?

Not only is this country enjoying a period of marked prosperity, but since the prohibition law went into effect down here a lot of it seems to have spilled over into Canada.

It's just possible that the trouble is not so much with college youth as with the colleges. It might prove profitable to pay less attention to the collegiate youth's mind and more to his soul.

Even if H. G. Wells has never abused the United States senate, as he asserts, what's so remarkable about that? Now, had he said that he had never been abused by the United States senate, then we certainly would have sat up and taken notice.

We may be mistaken, of course, but it's our guess that, if the summer White House is some place out in Iowa, it will not be much of a feat for occasional visitors to keep cool with Coolidge.

When we read about one Pennsylvania brewery having shipped only 20,000 carloads of beer into Cleveland during the past two years we begin to get a new light on the extent to which prohibition has crippled the brewing industry.

The chief thing in the way of farm relief has been that thus far the relief has been sought through politicians who have thought a heap sight more of giving themselves relief than providing it for the farmer.

If anything is to be accomplished by worrying, which is decidedly questionable, those who are alarmed about the 5,000,000 illiterates in this country could far better employ their time worrying about the so-called intellectuals—the college professors and students who hold out that everything that is patriotic is wrong and everything that is unpatriotic is right.

Gas in the Home.

A day or two ago we came upon some suggestions for the breaking in of gas stoves and the use of them thereafter which appealed to us as so good that we reproduce them for the benefit of our readers who may find them helpful.

We do not know their source, but certainly they are not intended either to work for stove replacements or increase the size of gas bills. In other words, they were never prepared and published for selfish purposes by either the stove or the gas people. Here they are:

"Many new gas stoves are spoiled at the beginning of what should be a long life of usefulness by neglect of certain simple precautions.

"A new stove should never be allowed to grow too hot the first time it is used. Gradual heating and cooling at this time will anneal and toughen the metal, whereas sudden heating to a high temperature may cause parts of the stove to warp permanently or even to crack.

"Rust in the oven can be prevented if the door is left open for a few minutes after lighting the burners. This permits the moisture to escape.

"Makeshift cast-iron tops should never be put on open-burner gas stoves. They not only waste gas, but may be dangerous producers of carbon monoxide gas through imperfect combustion. The only proper top is that designed by the manufacturer for the stove it is to be used on.

"Pans and other utensils will never be blackened if the stove burners are kept clean and properly adjusted.

"Save gas when you cook! There is a big difference between using enough gas and using too much. Water can only be heated to the boiling point, regardless of how much flame is kept under the vessel after boiling starts.

"And gas is no hotter ten minutes after the burner is lighted than it is the first second. Do not light the burner until you are ready to use it.

"If the burners pop or whistle, they need adjusting."

There is another point which may be added. We are on the threshold of the heated season, so comfort as well as economy should impel us to extinguish a burning gas jet as soon as we are through with it. The little gas burner under instantaneous heaters will heat up an entire cellar of the ordinary size even in cool weather. How much more then will not a full-size burner in a stove heat up a house when warm weather is at hand and we would keep the house cool?

Save your gas, save your stove and save yourself discomfort. It's a very simple matter to do all three.

For Cleaner Stage Productions.

Florenz Ziegfeld again deprecates indecency upon the stage. He again asserts that, unless the Authors' league, the producers and the theatre association get together and check the decided trend toward the nudism and the vile, state censorship of stage productions will be the certain outcome.

A week or two ago Ziegfeld delivered himself of the opinion that the corrupt condition of the stage in New York City was due to the madness of the box-offices hungering for the coin and the demand of out-of-town visitors for the salacious. At that time he also expressed himself as out of the "revue" business for good and stated that when he opens his Follies next fall it will be more like the old-fashioned musical comedy with a plot and as far removed from a revue as he can make it.

"The modern revue," Ziegfeld said, "is far worse than the old burlesque show. In fact, the revues have driven the burlesque shows out of business. The stage in New York has been corrupted to the point where it is risky to take one's mother, wife or children to the theater, not because there is a large public that wants filth, but because the theatrical people have gone box-office crazy.

"The revues have gone too far and I can not go with them. Stories such as are heard in smoking cars are being acted out, nudity has become the order of the day and the beauty of the draped figure has been forgotten. I don't want it even said of me that I'm producing a revue."

It would be hard to imagine a much more scathing arraignment of the metropolitan stage than this by one of its producers. Those who stand for purity and decency in stage productions may be more specific, but their indictment of the stage as it is today can not possibly be much more sweeping.

However, the phase of the thing which will strike the average reader as a little bit queer is the almost unanimous opinion of producers that censorship will not accomplish the result desired, that it would be worse than useless, and yet all of them seem to be as one in their fear of censorship. The unanimity of opposition to state censorship might lead one inclined toward suspicion to the view that the present seeming spasm of virtue on the part of some of the New York managers is in large part due to this fear of state censorship. None of them appears to be at all unfriendly to police censorship. In fact, Ziegfeld cites what it has accomplished for good in the Bronx.

It's just possible that state censorship may have more virtue than we assumed. In any event, and no matter what the cause, the fact that producers are committing themselves to cleaner productions is a matter for congratulation.

Usual Causes of Itching Skin.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

During the winter and spring it is not uncommon to have severe itching of the skin, involving some one part of the body.

On removing the clothing and stockings, the legs may have an itching so pronounced that it takes all the will-power to keep from scratching until the skin bleeds. The forearms, or some other part of the anatomy may be the seat of the uncomfortable trouble.

Diabetes is a disease which has itching of the skin as a symptom. There may be other skin symptoms, such as boils and carbuncles, or eczema.

If the intolerable itching does not respond to the simple treatment I shall mention, it will be well to have the urine examined. In diabetes there will be found sugar. Of course, the discovery of this disease will send you to your family doctor for proper care.

Excessive dryness of the skin from long exposure to overheated air may result in itching. Too heavy underwear may irritate the skin. In men the rubbing of the skin of the legs by the woolen trousers may cause itching.

The wrong kind of soap is another cause. If this toilet article is so strong as to dissolve and remove the oils of the skin, there may be great irritation of the parts. A change of soap may cause all the annoyance to disappear.

Eating the wrong kind of food is another fruitful cause for skin disturbance. Indeed, in any skin disease, do not overlook the possibility that food poisoning may be at the bottom of the trouble. Some persons are very susceptible to such ailments.

One such trouble is hives. Blotches and swollen spots appear on the skin of part or all of the body. Accompanying these will be most terrible itching. The victim may scream out in agony.

Get rid of everything which is capable of rubbing or irritating the skin. Protect it by bandaging or otherwise.

Give thought to the food. Shell fish, strawberries, eggs, milk, butter, cream, rice—there are many foods any one of which may be the offending substance. Remove this from the diet.

In excessive dryness of the skin, anointing it with small quantities of mineral oil may relieve the itching. Gently and carefully oil the itching surfaces. This is particularly soothing treatment if strong soap is responsible for the symptom.

A solution of ordinary baking soda may stop the symptoms. But the great remedy is hyposulphite of soda. A tablespoonful in a cup of water is about the proper proportion. This is mopped or sopped on the itching parts and allowed to dry.

In itching of the whole body, a cupful may be dumped in a bathful of water. Bathing in this will give great relief.

How much of Godhood did it take

Cigarets.

[New York Herald Tribune.]

The cheerful announcement is now made that the American people paid their government nearly $372,000,000 in tobacco taxes last year, and consumed 10,000,000,000 more cigarets than they consumed the year before. These statistics—aside from their recognized value in furnishing any number of earnest people with arguments for our spending similar amounts of money on various more lofty objects—are interesting for their renewed proclamation on the onward march of what used to be known as the disgusting habit. They indicate that every man, woman and infant in the United States smoked an average of two cigarets a day during 1926; the havannah, the terror of Victorian drawing-rooms and the dodger of Du Maurier whiskers, is fading rapidly in its own smoke; and above the heads of the massed hordes walking a mile, insisting upon toasting, and being satisfied, there dawns the new light of the cigaret age. Kansas bows her proud head in the conviction that it is no longer worth while to provide cigaret bootleggers with a profitable business, and the most dramatic success of the anti-cigaret leaguers is expunged almost unnoticed from her statue books.

As far as one knows, it is the first time in human history that a population of 118,000,000 has attained an average cigaret consumption of two a day. The physicians, with their usual diversity of opinion, are unhelpful on the subject of what it is doing to us; from which the pessimists naturally deduce that it must be doing something very bad. Well, we shall have to see. Where members of the British aristocracy once had to have pipes concealed in the bushes all down their driveways because they were not allowed to smoke in their houses, we now find hostesses who fail to scatter cigarets from top to bottom of their homes feeling themselves guilty of a social error. Cigarets have come to stay. It is true that they have never been known to do any one any good. But that, obviously, is their irresistible attraction.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

What are the ingredients that go into the making of peace of mind? Consider these:

First, a consciousness that the only thing we can do about anything is the best we can. Nothing else can be expected of us.

Second, the substitution of courage for optimism in our habit of thought. We are not to deny facts. We are to face facts and adjust ourselves as well as we know how to the circumstances which confront us.

Third, the realization that the things of yesterday are gone—and past recall. The realization that regret and remorse only impair our bodies and our spirits for the work that is at hand.

Fourth, the realization that the only thing we have to do is the next thing, the near task, the present duty.

Finally, the consciousness that we are not meant to escape life, but to meet it and deal with it and pay all the obligations that are required of us.

We sometimes hear it said that a thing has to get worse before it can get better. So in China. China is upset, stewing around, unhappy. There is no centralized government for the whole country. Conditions will probably get worse. China has boils. Much poison will come out. The bolshevists are bad doctors. China's boils will get worse. Then the great nation—for China has vast elements of greatness—will get better.

The football team at the University of Michigan earns about $300,000 a season for the school. It is a fine thing to make so much money for an educational institution. But one keeps wondering what has become of the old idea of sport for sport's sake. How about getting more boys to play games, for the good of their bodies, than taking so great an interest in a few who play so profitably?

In England almost all school boys—in colleges and lower schools both—play games because they love games. In America hundreds of thousands who never play pay big money for the thrill of watching others play. That is not sound.

Newspaper men meet in Chicago and debate the question of what is news. The answer is simple enough. News is anything of interest that has not been printed.

Strange how much credit men and women crave for merely doing their duty. It should be a matter of course. When you do more than your duty you are entitled to credit. But don't try to get it. In the first place, it is bad taste. In the second place, you won't get it.

Who's Who and Why.

COLONEL THOMAS J. DICKSON.

Colonel Thomas J. Dickson served in France during the World war as senior combat chaplain on the American front. He went to France as chaplain of the Sixth field artillery, and bears all the battle stars of the First division. Colonel Dickson was cited in general orders for distinguished conduct in exposing himself to heavy shell fire in burying the dead during battle. He himself ran a machine gun during the battle of Verdun. Colonel Dickson was transferred to the first field artillery at Fort Sill Oklahoma upon his return from France. He has since retired from active service. He makes a plea for truth in history. He says:

"A school boy who is taught that two and two make five soon will discover the mistake when he plays marbles. The school child who learns bad English may have that corrected later in life. But the child who is taught garbled history may remain in ignorance forever. It is important therefore that our histories be accurate.

"I am of the opinion that every one of the 107 histories should be immediately revised or the teachers furnished with notes that they may correct the errors. Words mean nothing. Our nation will never have a comprehensive estimate of great troop movements and momentous situations as long as historians use words without discernment. Millions of children will have ideas fixed in their minds that it will be impossible to change in after years. This mass of misinformation is appalling, it is dangerous.

"Many of these histories vaunt the prowess of the Americans, omit credit that is due allied forces in action, and belittle the courage of the Germans. These histories should state facts. The fact is, in the latter days of the war, it was largely a question for supremacy between the people of one branch of the Teutonic race with one ideal and those of another branch of the Teutonic race with another ideal."

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

Now, there's one argument that I don't want to get into. That's about the women's clothes, and whether they ought to wear more or less of them. I don't mind a little dispute with a broncho or a second-rate boxer now and then, but if a guy has got any sense he won't argue about what women ought to wear.

But there was one woman who had sad news to tell her husband. She said: "The doctor says I've got to go South to safeguard my health. Havana, or some place like that. Yes, I know it will cost a lot of money. The question is whether you would rather have me or $1,000. Of course, if you want to hang on to the thous, just to have it in case the undertaker should want it, why all right. But the doctor says I go South.

So the poor man, all puzzled and worried, met the family doctor next day at the club, and they had a talk and a little drink of something to help the talk along.

"Did you tell my wife that she's got to go South for her health?"

"Yes, I'm sorry to say. Either go South, I told her, or put on more clothes. And of course she never considered the latter notion. I reckon you'll have to send her to Havana."—Copyright, 1927.

Q. How long have there been pogroms? R. K.

A. Pogrom is a Russian word, meaning devastation, and was applied to anti-Jewish riots in Russia. The first pogroms took place in 1881 and were the direct cause of the first wave of Russian-Jewish emigration to America.

Q. What are in reality the skins sold so widely for cleaning purposes and called chamois skins? Are they, or any of them, the actual skins of the Alpine antelope, or is it only a trade name? F. S.

A. The soft pliable leather known as chamois was originally obtained from the Alpine antelope, but practically all of the skins known under this trade name on the market today are procured from the sheep, goat, calf and other animals such as the coyote.

Q. What will remove candlewax stains made by colored candles? N. T.

A. Scrape away as much of the wax as possible. Place the stained spot between two pieces of blotting paper and press with a warm iron. Most of the grease will be absorbed by the blotting paper. Then sponge with denatured alcohol to remove the dye.

Q. Was Iceland once a republic? G. A. R.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

New York, March 24—A New York millionaire builds his home and calls in an interior decorator to give him carte blanche to furnish it. Some are paid $100,000 for a single job. It has become, indeed, one of the most highly remunerative professions.

Interior decorating on a grand scale is a craze to be indulged only by the wealthy. They are relived thus of harassing details and are assured of artistic effects. The extravagance is a little bewildering to those who pay $500 down and so much a month for home in the Grand Rapids period.

Recently a rich man sent his decorator to England to bring back a set of iron gates from Essex to grace his carriage approach. The jaunt cost him $110,000. A number of castles have been brought, piece by piece, from Europe to be set up over here.

A trip to Spain for a set of mirrors or to Persia or Turkey for a single rug is an ordinary event. Enormous wealth almost invariably brings on an itch to collect—to pry some musty treasure out of a forgotten age for strangers to bark their shins on in the hall.

Men whose idea of home like ease was encompassed in a deep-seated plush chair suddenly find they are only comfortable on a ramrod hardness of a Hepplewhite and are only able to sleep in an early American four poster. This booms trade for the decorator.

Horticulture is another fad for those with expansive estates. I am told of one of the show places near Oyster Bay which has fifty servants. There are sixty-eight gardeners and the owner recently spent $90,000 to have the most elaborate crocus bloom in the section.

This man's actual living expenses run $800,000 a year and his race horse farm in Kentucky blue grass totals $200,000 a year. He is an exception, but there are innumerable millionaires who spend a half million a year for what many of us call "bare living."

It is noticed most of these extravagant spenders have personal physicians on their staff. And any number of chronic hypochondriacs chasing from one "cure" to another. They are obsessed by a consuming fear of death in almost every instance. It is perhaps too terrible to think of giving up all this luxury.

I am told that very rich husbands will not hesitate to pay a half million for a painting but will shy at the same amount for a rope of pearls for their wives. They leave such baubles to the impulsive butter and eggers. A rope of pearls costing $500,000 means a $30,000 yearly interest loss and and added upkeep of $10,000 for insurance. Such pearls are rarely worn more than four times a year, which makes a figure a cost of $100,000 per wear. That is a consideration but the bigger consideration concerns the danger from a hold-up man or desperate burglar. A painting, too, increases in value with age and is practically valueless if stolen.

Every millionaire, nearly, has as a boon companion some extremely talented fellow who has made more or less of a failure in life. He is usually a versatile conversationalist, witty and charming in any gathering, clever at bridge, tennis or golf. He is not a leech and is temperate. But one of those strange humans who is willing to sacrifice a career for social gaieties. He is always ready for a party or to start on a hunting trip to Africa or a house party on a western ranch. He is the sort who can be trusted with wives as well as confidences that could shake Wall street to its depths.—Copyright, 1927.

Twenty Years Ago.

This day was Sunday.

Dr. C. E. Sawyer who had been confined at his home by illness for six weeks was able to be out of doors.

Mrs. W. W. Thomas underwent a serious operation at Central Emergency hospital.

Leonce Paddock, who was seriously injured the preceding Thursday in the Hocking Valley round-house, contracted pneumonia.

A child of Henry Ruff, of Sharp street, was very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Uhler returned from a stay of ten days in New York City.

William Hayden, eighteen, was in a serious condition as the result of injuries received in a runaway that morning.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Vorhees, of east Church street.

The Star told of the birth of a son, the day before, to Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Crites, of Bennett street.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Bade of Wood street.

John M. Ritzler was killed by a C., D. and M. car in front of his home a mile and a half north of Owen. He was standing on the track signaling the motorman to stop. His wife was standing at the side of the track and escaped injury.

Mrs. Tillie Linderbeck and Mr. James W. Epley were married in the home they had prepared for their marriage by Rev. C. E. Rowland and left for a honeymoon trip on the Great lakes.

Dinner Stories.

A well-known artist rolled into a London club bar obviously under the influence of drink. A friendly member took him in hand and told him he would have to pull himself together. The budding genius answered: "Yes, I am a darned fool. In fact, I am one of those chaps my father always warned me against."

The auctioneer, who had been whispering excitedly to a gentleman amongst his audience, held up a pale hand for silence.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I wish to announce that yesterday a certain gentleman had the misfortune to lose his wallet containing $1,000. I have just seen his clerk and he tells me that a reward of $250 will be given to any one returning same."

After a short silence a gentleman with a plaid tam-o-shanter was heard to murmur:

"Two-hoondered an' feefty-five."

"Yes, my wife gets more out of a novel than anybody."

"How do you mean?"

"Well, she always starts in the middle. She's not only wondering how it will all end but how it began."

Today's Events.

Thursday, March 24, 1927.

Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, is seventy-two years old today.

Forty-five years ago today the English-speaking world mourned the death of the poet Longfellow.

Fifty years ago today the annual boat race between the two English universities of Oxford and Cambridge resulted in a dead heat, the only time that this has occurred in the long series extending over nearly 100 years.

"Believe it or not"—This date 175 years ago was observed as New Year's eve by our forefathers. In that year—1752—there was no January or February in England or the American colonies owing to the reform of the calendar, which made that year begin on March 25.

COUNTY TAXPAYERS HAVE WEEK MORE TO SETTLE

Apr. 1 Fixed as Final Day Under Extension Granted by Commissioners

Taxpayers outside of the city of Marion have just a week in which to pay taxes, if they have not already settled with the county treasurer.

Apr. 1 has been set as the final day for payment of taxes, under the extension granted by the County Commissioners. Indications are that there will be no further extension, as the tax settlement with the school districts must be made in order to supply them with money as soon as possible.

Banks in ten townships throughout the county are now accepting taxes. These banks will take taxes until tomorrow, when the collection will again switch back to the treasurer's office for such property owners in these ten as have not paid.

Action on the collection of delinquent personal taxes will be started shortly after Apr. 1. County Commissioners have approved the plan of turning these delinquent personal taxes over to a collector and those accounts will be called on probably sometime in April by this collector. The accounts will be turned over to a firm specializing in this work and an effort made to collect all of the $50,000 estimated to be outstanding in delinquent personal taxes in the county.

POLICE JOIN IN HUNT FOR KIRKPATRICK BOY

Delno Warner, 15, Reported Missing Since Last Tuesday; School Student

Police in Marion and other Central Ohio cities are assisting in a search for Delno Warner, 15, who has been missing from his home near Kirkpatrick since Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Warner, the boy's parents, report that they have not seen him since he left early Tuesday, presumably to go to school, and they are of the opinion that he plans going to Texas, where relatives reside.

Up until the time of his disappearance he attended grade school at Kirkpatrick. Mr. and Mrs. Warner say that he gave them no intimation of his plans to run away from home although several times recently he had expressed displeasure over parental restrictions. He had also informed boy friends that he hoped some time to "go to Texas."

The boy, according to the description furnished by his parents, is about five feet tall, with light complexion and blue eyes and is attired in a green lumber jacket, sheepskin coat, grey cap, grey trousers and tennis shoes.

BENEFIT PLAY

A neat sum was realized from the three-act comedy play, "Cyclone Sally" presented by members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Radnor Congregational Church, last night before a capacity audience at the Morral High School Auditorium. The play was sponsored by the Morral Baptist Church and directed by Walter C. Thomas, to whom much praise for the success of the play is due.

PRINCIPALS IN MURDER

NEW YORK, Mar. 24—Who is the real victim?

Is Albert Snyder, magazine art editor, strangled with picture wire, suffocated by chloroform and crushed by an iron sash weight, the real victim of his murder tragedy?

Is it his widow, Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder, held for his slaying, whose pretty face has already grown sunken and gray with fear of consequences?

It is her paramour, Henry Judd Gray, dapper corset salesman of East Orange, N. J., who police charge, murdered a man he never met, to earn Mrs. Snyder's love and now hates her for betraying him?

Who Are Real Victims?

Do they make up the triangle of victims as they made up a triangle in life?

Snyder thought his wife loved him in life and is now dead to suffering as well as knowledge. The others faced their ordeal when they stood at his bedside with murder implements in their hands, according to confessions made public by the police. They now have the philosophy of experience to bear what is before them.

But there are two nine-year old school girls whose eyes have looked on so little suffering, who are so childishly blind to reality that they still weep for their dolls when they fall to the floor.

Who They Are

One is Lorraine Snyder, daughter of the murdered artist; the other is Jane Gray, daughter of the man charged with his murder.

They are not the victims of today, they are the victims of the future.

Lorraine has some fantastic idea of what has occurred. She awoke from the innocent sleep of childhood Sunday morning to find her mother bound to a chair and her father strangly still on his bed. She called her grandmother in terror.

And that was her last contact with the crime.

Her father is dead.

Her mother—although she and Gray have pleaded not guilty and say the confessions were obtained under duress—faces the long agony of a murder trial with probably prison and perhaps worse at the end of it.

Lorraine faces life without father or mother. And in the future some benevolent stranger will tell her all about the crime, will tell her that her mother told the police that she loved her husband until the child was born and never loved the child.

Lorraine thinks now that "papa died suddenly and mama is sick somewhere." And closely guarded she wanders through the rooms of the house of tragedy in Queens Village, poor bewildering waif, her mother will return and worrying about the social clown she is missing.

The final tragedy of little girl who soon will know all.

Other Little Girl

Jane Gray knows nothing. She plays and by eliminating them, we will shorten the trial."

"The elimination, far from removing the racial question," said Judge Robert S. Marx, associate counsel for Sapiro, confines the issue more closely to the Jewish question. It narrows the case by making Mr. Ford answer more specific charges."

54 Charges Dropped

There were 50 changes in the amended complaint against Ford and 54 of the old libel charges were dropped. The amendment also included a revised declaration of the manner in which Sapiro contended he was libelled by Ford.

One of the new allegations read: "It is charged by the defendant that there does exist and has existed a band, ring, organization, body and conspiracy of Jews having for its purpose the exploitation, domination, control and subjection of American farmers and American farmers organizations, the creation of a monopoly of the products of said farmers and the communizing of the American child, and which band, ring, organization, body and conspiracy of Jews made use of Gentiles to conceal its existence and in prosecuting its purpose made use of and associated with itself anarchists, reds, communists, Bolshevists, I. W. W.'s, criminal syndicalists and other persons proposing and practicing principles in conflict with those upon which the government of the United States is founded."

SAPIRO DROPS ONE-THIRD OF LIBEL CHARGES

Court Adjourns To Give Ford Counsel Time To Study New Declaration

Federal Building, Detroit, Mar. 24—Aaron Sapiro today dropped one third of his 141 libel charges against Henry Ford and the Dearborn Independent.

Counsel for the so-called wheat king eliminated 54 of his libel accusations by filing an amended declaration of libel in the million-dollar libel suit.

Counsel for Ford immediately insisted on an adjournment until Monday so they could study the new declaration. The court, however, ordered only a recess until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

"We have not seen the amendment," said Stewart Hanley of Ford's counsel. "It may change the entire course of our defense. We do not wish to go ahead in the dark. Mr. Gallagher knew two weeks ago, was told by the court that amendments would have to be made."

More Compact Case

This move was taken by the plaintiff on the advice of Federal Judge Fred M. Raymond, who ruled several days ago that the original declaration was "insufficient."

Most of the alleged libels eliminated by Sapiro consisted of short sentences or phrases, such as "oriental financiers" and "Jewish masters."

"We struck out a number of short libels," Sapiro explained, "and dropped a number of immaterial libels in order to make a more compact case. We didn't need these libels to establish our case."

WOMEN HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT IMPROVING

The conditions of Mrs. J. A. Dodd, 367 Franklin-st, and Mrs. George B. Knapp, Vernon Heights-blvd, who were injured in an automobile accident late Tuesday afternoon, are reported improved today. Examination this morning revealed that their injuries are not as serious as was thought at first.

The accident occurred when the Buick sedan, driven by Mrs. Dodd, collided with a Ford coupe, driven by E. J. Schoenlaub, in front of the Schoenlaub home, 714 Mt. Vernon-av.

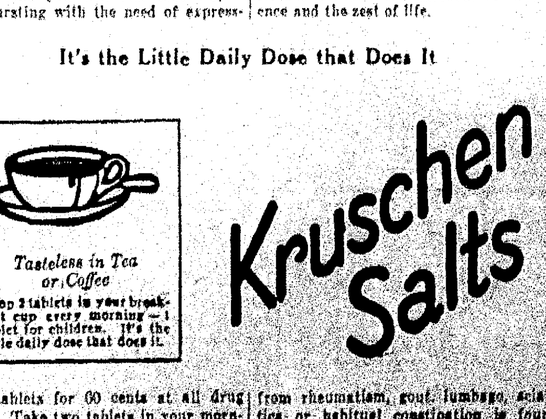
That "Kruschen" Feeling


Grandpa Sings in His Bath
Hard things have been said and written of the man who sings in his bath.
But let us not be unduly prejudiced by the fact that he is disturbing our morning rest. Let us attempt to enter into his feelings.
Why does he sing in his bath?
Some people say it's because his instinct moves him to clear his lungs of their overnight "hangover." Stuff and nonsense. He sings out of the pure joy of his heart. He gets up feeling brimful of health and energy, he's glad to be alive, he welcomes the advent of another day of glorious existence, he offers up a song of praise—even though it's only a music-hall song—for having been born into such a wonderful world.
Well, that's something to make a song about, isn't it? You who grumble at his musical efforts—you would make music too if you got up feeling as he feels. And you will feel that way—just bursting with the need of expressing the sheer joy of living—if you take your daily dose of Kruschen Salts.
The Little Dose That Does So Much
It's such a little dose—2 little tablets that dissolve instantly in your tea or coffee. It's such an easy dose—you can't taste it in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea; it's such a cheap dose—it costs only a trifle a day. But it does so much for you. Every day it reminds your liver and kidneys of their duty, and gently stimulates them to performance. It removes all the waste matter that has been clogging the system, purifies and refreshes the blood, makes you tingle in every fibre with new health, new vigor, new joy. And millions of your fellow-beings know that Kruschen gives in joyous abundance just that health and happiness that make the difference between the boredom of existence and the zest of life.
It's the Little Daily Dose that Does It

The medicinal dose for persons suffering from rheumatism, gout, lumbago, sciatica or habitual constipation is four tablets in a tumbler of hot water before breakfast. It is made of heavy green and white crepe with a sleeveless velvet coat. The trousers are of solid green and the blouse or jacket of white with a large futuristic pattern in green. The green and white figured cap matches the suit.

Old Theory of Age Being Put on Junk Pile Nowadays

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

DO women grow old sooner than men or vice versa? It has been generally agreed in the past that women of any age are older than men of the same age, but I am inclined to think the statement may now be challenged. Think of the men and women you know between the ages of, say 40 and 60, and think which is the more alert, youthful and the more interesting companion.

Following is a letter from a worried mother who think her son is doomed to unhappiness in his marriage because the woman he loves is older than he. How would you advise her.

"Dear Mrs. Lee: Do you think any happiness can come from a marriage when the man is younger than the woman? My son is 25 and in love with a woman of 31. She is a fine woman and would make a splendid wife for someone, but I think there is too much difference in their ages. I am so worried about it. I do want my boy to be happy. She is the first girl he has ever paid any attention to and he is wild about her and insists they be married right away. What shall I do or say to break it off? MRS. H."

WHAT can you do, Mrs. H.? And would it lead to any more happiness than to accept the situation and make the best of it. If your boy were 18 or even 20 I should think differently, but the woman of 31 today is in appearance and feeling very little older than was the girl of 25 of a few years ago. Six years would not be considered a great difference in their ages if it was the other way about, so why should it matter in this instance? A "fine woman" who "would make a splendid wife" is a prize, so why worry about a few years more or less. Forget about them and welcome her into your family.

Treasure-trove

Stunning girls, like Miss Anna C. Remes, 444 Autumn Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., often have high points of beauty of which they're unaware until some unexpected touch—the becoming line of a hat—a dash of color—a simple change of beauty aids—reveals this hidden loveliness! Miss Remes says: "I'm more than grateful to this delicately clinging face powder for showing me how to look my best all day, three hundred and sixty-five days a year! It's so soft and fine itself, it keeps my skin that way, too, and its true flesh-tones are flatteringly becoming!"

"My Catarrh is all gone"

What freedom in those words! Only those can realize who know the distress of clogged nose, catarrhal deafness, offensive breath, raising of mucus, and lowered vitality due to catarrh. Yet thousands still endure catarrh needlessly, because they are treating symptoms instead of the cause.

Catarrh is an inflamed condition of the mucous membrane—the delicate lining of the air passages of nose, throat and head. When this is corrected, catarrh disappears.

Salves and ointments give only temporary relief. But Hall's Catarrh Medicine because it goes directly to the cause has been successful for over 40 years. Ask your druggist. Price 85c. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Gives Advice to Expectant Mothers

"I ADVISE all expectant mothers to use Mother's Friend." Writes Mrs. Wesley Miller, Hudson, Mich. "I have had nine children. With my first three I suffered for 24 hours. Beginning with the fourth I used Mother's Friend and was sick only 15 minutes. Since then I have had five and was only sick about 10 minutes with each."

Mother's Friend is the formula of an eminent physician and has been a positive blessing to thousands of expectant mothers for over three generations. Plain oils only penetrate the skin. But the highly refined oils and other ingredients in Mother's Friend make it penetrate through the skin to the muscles and ligaments; making them soft and pliable, thus aiding the tissues to relax and adjust themselves to the changes during motherhood.

The mothers who praise Mother's Friend the most are those who did not use it with their first baby but through its use with the second, were able to realize its almost unbelievable results.

Mother! Insist on Mother's Friend—the same as used by our mothers and grandmothers—don't wait—start using tonight—and meanwhile write Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. 34, Atlanta, Ga., for free valuable booklet "Motherhood and the Coming Baby" (sent in plain envelope). It tells how Mother's Friend can help you during expectancy and at childbirth. This booklet also tells you many other things you want to know. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all druggists—everywhere.

BUREAU TO OPEN

Rev. A. W. Swan Back of Novel Employment Move

Through the efforts of Rev. A. W. Swan, pastor of Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church, the east side employment bureau for boys will open Friday. The purpose of the plan is to aid boys in finding work during spring vacation next week, and was proposed as a means of aiding in the solving of the "boy problem." Boys of the junior and senior high schools, living east of Grand-av, may file their name, address and phone number with Reverend Swan, while householders desiring reliable boys for odd jobs, may reach the agency through Reverend Swan, phone 8328.

"The venture is still in the experimental state," the pastor says, "and its success will depend upon the cooperation of the citizens of the community.

CHAPTER VI

THERE were to be many happy days together, though, before Jim went away. He was told to wait for his call to active duty, and following close on the heels of his enlistment came a hurry-up order from Chicago to fit out two theaters with complete scenic equipment. It was a job entailing a price profit of $3,000 to the Elwells.

"Delivery not later than August 20," was the stipulation made in the contract accompanying the letter.

"Grab it," Jim advised his father when Prof showed him the order. "I can help you till I'm called, and it's likely to be a couple of weeks or a month—maybe more—before that happens. Three thousand in the clear is pretty tidy business, too much money to let get away, even if we have to cut it with somebody else."

He scratched his chin reflectively.

"If we could get Dick Canfield to help, it would—"

"You said it, son," cut in Prof Elwell with emphasis. "Dick's the very boy. That is," he qualified, "if we can get him."

Jim would duck right over to the telegraph office and send a wire, he said. Did Prof think he'd better?

The other nodded. "Tell him we'll sleep him and eat him and pay him the scale," he advised.

Jim grinned with pleasurable anticipation. It would be great, he told himself, to have Canfield as a visitor and to work with for a week or two. He recalled the two jobs on which Prof and he had worked with Dick, and the friendship that had dated from that period, two years previous.

Both of them had liked the Chicago artist from the day they had met. Later they had visited him at the home of his aunt in Chicago. Dick Canfield had told them that his parents had died when he was ten years old, and while he was younger than Jim by a year, he was considered by Prof Elwell an artist of more than ordinary ability.

And so Jim sent the wire, hoping to goodness that it would fetch him, "for besides needing him right now I've got a hankering to see the cuss again."

He chuckled softly to himself. "And what a line of gab he used to have! I wonder if he's got it yet?"

An hour later the message was delivered in Chicago, and a red-headed young man who had just enlisted himself smiled when he read the appeal from Jim Elwell. He sent his acceptance immediately.

At noon Jim got his telegram: "Will arrive six p. m. Meet me."

Father and son were at the station to welcome their guest and assistant when he arrived.

"You'll have to bunk in with me tonight," Jim told him as they approached the cottage. "Tomorrow Mollie will have a cot up for me. I gotta big room."

"Mollie," repeated the visitor from Chicago a trifle vaguely, "let's see, that—"

"My mother," explained Jim.

Dick Canfield laughed.

"And how is—er—Rusty and Betty?" he asked casually.

"Oh, they're feelin' fine as usual," said Jim, and added magnanimously, "Kids, of course, but they gotta lot of sense at that. You'll like 'em."

Prof Elwell smiled to himself at Jim's smug complacency and wondered if this good-looking young artist from the city wouldn't be likely to find something more than "kid" qualities in Rusty and Betty.

From the moment of Dick Canfield's introduction to the two girls Prof knew the answer to his self-put query. To the most casual observer it would have been plain that the young man from Chicago had found something distinctly to his liking. It was apparent, too, that both of the twins found in him a charming personality, a young man who not only could talk well but who could listen in a manner that made conversation with him a pleasure. Dick Canfield possessed that rare trait of being able to draw out the best in the other fellow and make him talk well, too. Thus it was that Jim, who had never won any medals as a conversationalist, discovered to his surprise that he himself had a "line of gab" that was registering in a surprising way with the home folks.

And both the girls beamed on their big pal in a prideful way. Nor did either of them suspect that it was Dick Canfield's clever suggestions that had blazed the way for Jim's new oracular displays. As for Dick, the thought never occurred to him that his was the steel on which other people sharpened their faculties.

Prof Elwell learned, much to his satisfaction, that Dick would be able to give them three weeks of his time. He had made arrangements, so he told them, to join an aviation training school late in May on Long Island, N. Y. According to the plans, the corps would be sent overseas some time in August.

"It's going to be tough on you, old top," Dick remarked as Jim and he were preparing for bed one night. "Tearing a dandy home like this, a mother and father like yours and—" he shot a swift glance, half quizzical and just a little envious, at his friend—"two of the finest and best lookin' girls in the world—with the chances all against you of ever seein' them again.

"With me it's different. There's nobody to give a hoot except my aunt, whether I ever come back or not." When, he wanted to know, did Jim figure on being called to camp?

"Can't tell. Maybe next week and maybe not for a month or two." Jim lit a cigaret and perched on the edge of Dick's bed. Of course, he admitted, it was hard, this going away stuff.

"But what's a fellow goin' to do? Better enlist voluntarily than be drafted. And I've got no earthly excuse, being in perfect health and with nobody particularly dependent on me, for not going."

No, agreed Dick, one couldn't be a slacker. "Just the same, for a young fellow in your position it's a damn shame! Lord!" he ejaculated and then drew a long breath, "if I had a mother like yours it sure would hurt like hell to have to leave her!"

"It's goin' to hurt me like hell, Dick, to leave Mollie; don't you think it isn't," Jim told him, and there was a little catch in his voice that brought sympathetic moisture to the other's eyes. "And it's goin' to hurt like hell to leave Prof and the girls."

He turned away from Canfield, got up and walked over to the window. The cigaret stub, shot from his fingers, described a glowing arc in the darkness as it descended toward the flower beds. "By the way," he said, his back still turned, "how do you like my kid pals?"

Dick Canfield laughed softly.

"Some pals, old man," he made answer after a moment, "some pals, I'll say. I've fallen in love with both of 'em—actually in love."

Jim Elwell looked at him curiously and Dick continued, "My acquaintance with girls is not what you'd call extensive and those I do know are mostly of the flapper type. To meet girls like Rusty and Betty, after several years in a big city, is like coming out of a field of sunflowers into a garden of roses. Your 'kid' pals strike me as being regular honest-to-God girls, one hundred per cent American, which means sweet and wholesome and natural. Any man in the world ought to be proud to win either of them," he finished earnestly.

Jim chuckled delightedly.

"By heck, I'll have to tell 'em that!" he declared with emphasis.

During the ensuing three weeks the men of the Elwell family and their visiting helper were busy eight hours a day on the big scenic contract. The long evenings, however, Saturday afternoons and Sundays found the young people just as busy enjoying themselves.

If Dick Canfield had any choice in his liking for the two girls it wasn't manifested to those who stood on the sidelines. He was Rusty's sweet one night and Betty's the next. Jim, of course, remained the same old Jim. Both were his pals, equally beloved, impartially treated. And those who looked on saw Dick following the same schedule as that laid down by Jim.

Both boys, realizing that many a lonely evening was in store for the twins, treated them like princesses and responded to their every whim. When Dick left, a shadow seemed to fall for a while on the whole family.

"I couldn't," said Mollie to her husband, "tell for the life of me which girl he prefers, if either." Prof, who had asked for her opinion, admitted he, too, was in the dark.

"Both girls," Mollie went on, "like him immensely. I'm sure of that. But whether either is in love with him is another matter. I do think, however, that under other circumstances his stay here might have resulted differently."

"Mighty few boys would have acted with as fine a consideration as Dick has shown," admitted Prof Elwell. "At that," he went on after a moment with something like a whimsical note in his voice, "it seems to me if I had been in his place and you had been one of the girls I hardly think I would have considered the fact that I might never come back. I think I'd have popped the question just the same."

"We don't know that Dick didn't," Mollie reminded him with a wise smile playing about her lips.

Her husband looked at her with a baffled expression. "You mean," he asked, "that he has?"

She shook her head. "I don't know. I haven't given it much thought," she said sadly. "It's Jim that I've been thinking about."

Prof Elwell took her in his arms.

Three days after Dick Canfield had left for Chicago, mobilization of Camdenville's men began.

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Tries to Fathom Curse

FOR a minute that seemed an eternity I clung to the door between Dicky's room and mine, trying to rally my strength to the point of getting back to my bed without waking Rita. I could not deny that the curse I had heard my husband utter in my troubled dream applied to me while he frowned on me "Oh my God! I don't know—I could interpret but in one way.

My suspicions of the afternoon were true. Edith Fairfax was responsible for Dicky's incomprehensible behavior to me. She was trying to poison his mind against me, and—something in Gerald's query galling, he was persuading himself to believe whatever she was telling him.

That it was something unusually poisonous, especially diabolical, I was sure from its effect upon Dicky. He has a quick temper, and can work himself to rage that is alarming but there was something about his present cold deadly wrath which was utterly strange to my knowledge of him.

From the long ago experience of his troubled dreams, I knew that presently he would awaken with a start, and gathering strength from some untapped reservoir, I closed the door softly again and crept back to my bed.

I did not lose myself in sleep for a single minute during the entire night, though I tried every expedient to induce slumber of which I ever had heard. Thus it was that I heard Dicky moving about his room an hour before his usual time for arising and later heard him say something which I could not distinguish to Katie, who, I knew from looking at my wrist-watch, must have come downstairs to prepare breakfast.

Then the outside door slammed and I rose with excitement, I scrambled out of bed, took my cold shower and dressed, making as quick time as I could, but omitting no detail of my usual morning routine. I did not wish Katie to think that I was excited over anything, and I am sure that Dicky had "saved his face," in Chinese parlance. I knew also that if I were adroit, I could get from her the reason he had given her for his early departure without her suspecting my anxiety to know it.

My little maid stared frankly at me as I came into the kitchenette.

"Vot matter mit you?" she exclaimed, forgetting the "Good-morning," which it is her invariable custom to give me. "You seeck? You look like somebody dragged you trow vun keyhole."

"I have one of my headaches," I replied, and spoke only the truth, for my excitement and sleepless night had brought on my troublesome old affliction. "I wanted to tell you not to give me coffee for breakfast. Will you please make me a cup of tea? That is all I want."

"Oh, I so sorry," Katie said sympathetically. "Sure ting, I feex tea right away. Eef any more exem down seeck or goin' away, I no have to get breakfast. Meester Graham he exem shoot as I get into kitchen, say he have to get downtown extra early to see man going away on train and did he no have time to wait for breakfast. He say make hes excuses to you ven you get upp, say he forgot to tell you last night."

"Thank you, Katie," I returned thankful that my little maid was not putting two and two together and getting the sum of ten, her usual answers when there is any deviation from our household routine. "I think I'll lie down again until you get the tea ready. My head is pretty bad."

But it was my heart which was heavy as I went back into my bedroom and, closing my door from a loving rebuke, lay down again. For a few minutes I felt as if I had not the strength to get up. Dicky's reason for leaving so early which he had given Katie was only a subterfuge, I was sure. He could not bear to sit opposite me at the breakfast table, that was the real reason.

WORK OF MANY OFFICIALS IS GIVEN PRAISE

Condition of Records Found To Be Excellent in Most Cases

Mt Gilead, Mar. 24—The report of the state examiners of all Morrow County offices for the period from Oct. 13, 1924, to Aug. 20, 1926, has been made by State Examiners H T Manner and H. T. Hastings. Kenton Safety Director Investigating Charges Against Police Officer

Night Captain Philip Van Atta Named in Sworn Statement of Delpha Miller; Claims Couple Wanted at Findlay Made Escape After Receiving "Tip"

Kenton Mar 24 Charges contained in a sworn statement to the effect that a member of the Kenton police force indirectly had "tipped off" two local people now sought in connection with a department store robbery and the slaying of a night watchman recently in Findlay, are being investigated by Baron D. James, city safety director.

The statement, sworn to by Delpha Miller, Kenton, reported as being held in Findlay as a witness in the case, charged Night Captain Philip VanAtta of the Kenton force with the "tipping off."

Testimony brought out in private hearings here tends to discredit the woman's charges against VanAtta, Director James said, and showed that the local police force did not know any wanted people were wanted by Findlay authorities, until after the night of Feb. 16 the night the alleged "tipping off

Called on Phone

Mrs Miller in her sworn statement turned over to Director James by Findlay authorities, said that on the night the two alleged fugitives, Bernice Anderson and Dora Wilke were moving out of the city, a man giving his name as Officer VanAtta, night captain of police called over the telephone and told me to inform the two to leave as soon as possible as the Findlay authorities were coming after them"

Director James in a statement today said that the charges of the woman were brought as an outgrowth of criticism of Findlay authorities, who are now attempting to shift the blame to the Kenton police department If the two go away through being "tipped off," I am certain that they did not get their information through the police department here"

The accused officer emphatically denied the charges, saying he did not even know the two local people were wanted in Findlay in connection with the murder of the watchman on the night of Feb. 16, the time of the alleged "tipping off" Director James is expected to give his decision in the case in the near future.

RESOLUTION IS ADOPTED BY POMONA GROUP

Farmers Declare They Are Ready To Pay Taxes on New Appraisal Basis

Bucyrus, Mar 24—Crawford County farmers seem to be rallying to the support of County Auditor Charles F. Fry in the present tax muddle which is up the finances of the county's government since the first of the year.

This growing support of the auditor's efforts to have the new appraisal accepted as the tax basis was seen in the resolution adopted by the Crawford County Pomona Grange at The resolution declares that grangers are ready to pay taxes in accordance with the appraisal made this last year and favor the collection of taxes on the basis of the appraisal, declaring that the farms of the county have been paying 120 per cent on taxes than is their rightful share, the former appraisal figures the resolution voices a conviction of inequality by Crawford County farmers generally. The grangers' resolution carries instruction with it and has been forwarded to County Auditor Fry The resolution was signed by Harry B. Morrow, master of the Pomona Grange.

Resolution

The resolution reads: "That the 1926 appraisal over the 1925 appraisal is $8,753,590 on rural property. The net gain on buildings on the same is $978,630. The net loss from the appraisal to the 1926 appraisal was $1,756,960 Approximate per cent loss between the two appraisals is 19.5 per cent The farms of the county have been paying 120 per cent more than their share."

The Pomona Grange resolution in the same tone as a statement made soon after the filing of a suit to enjoin the auditor from certifying the tax books D. M Odaffer president of the Crawford County Farm Bureau Federation Odaffer took issue with the 13 citizens, bringing the suit and upheld the high appraisal rates as being a fair distribution of the tax burden. He said that the owners of city property had been receiving the favorable end of appraisement rates and that the present high appraisal only equalized the value scale of rural and city property in the county.

The hatchery owners of the county also have gone on record as satisfied with the appraisal values set on their properties.

Certification Prevented

County Auditor Fry is prevented from certifying the tax duplicate by an injunction granted by Judge Walter Wright to 13 local tax payers. The injunction was recently contested before the Ohio Supreme Court on a writ of mandamus action brought by the state tax commission and the Court is still considering the arguments advanced in the case. A decision is expected soon probably next Tuesday, and in the meantime the work of collecting the county taxes is held up by Fry and County Treasurer Frank McKeehe are marking time.

The appraisal values were opposed by a Citizens committee representing property owners from Bucyrus, Galion, Crestline and other communities in the county. The suit for an injunction was supported by the Citizens Tax payers Association thus formed

The grangers resolution anticipates "the reconsideration of a few errors in the appraisal.

Hi-Y Club and Manual Training Class of Galion High Present Beautiful Case to School for Display of Trophy Collection

GALION, Mar. 24—A new addition of which students of the school are especially proud, the trophy case which has recently been built and installed. The handsome case was patterned after one by the boys of the manual training and shop department and is a fine example of the work accomplished by the advanced students.

Standing at the main entrance of the upper corridor in a prominent position the case readily attracts the attention of all who enter the building. Few can resist the impulse to stop for a look at the numerous trophies which tell the story of the successful seasons of Galion High School athletes upon the gridiron and basketball court.

Students' Gift

The long felt need of the athletic association for a new resting place for the cherished treasures was realized when the members of the Hi-Y and the advanced class in manual training work discussed the matter and decided to contribute a case that the school could long keep and be proud of owning.

The case is built in cupboard style and stands six feet from the floor, and behind the glass doors the coveted cups rest on shelves decorated in the colors of the school.

Portrait of Pfeifer

A huge portrait of a former mentor, Coach Walter Pfeifer, occupies the most prominent position and close by are numerous cups which were won by teams which he coached. The large silver football, the N. C. O. L. trophy for football championship in 1924, which was won by the best team in local history, claims a distinctive place, backed by the huge shield whose engraving tells of first place won in the state track and field meet in 1921. Two other cups in the football array are those undisputedly won by the teams of 1920 and 1921, and a third for 1923, when G. H. S. tied for honors with teams of Marion and Mansfield.

In spite of the numerous trophies of grid teams, Galion's lack of successful basketeers is evidenced by the presence of only one trophy for the cage game, that won in 1921, when an unusually capable group of athletes brought home two major sport cups to Galion.

Track and Field

During the regime of Coach H. E. Welsh, track and field activities held a position of much prominence and the teams from the local school entered many meets, including the Ohio State meet, which was easily won. Among the cups for track honors are the Marsh cup for distance relay, Ohio State University prize cup for relay, the Hub cup for field sports, the Baker trophy for the one-mile relay and the Elks' cup presented to the winners of the interscholastic relay carnival which was held in Galion in 1920. At that time the local sprinters won over a representation of 12 schools from all parts of the state.

Treasured Pigskins

The concluding articles of the array are two battered footballs which were used in championship games, one painted with the former colors of the school, red and white, and the other in the present hues of orange and blue.

Already the trophy case has attracted great interest, especially among alumni members, who take pleasure in viewing relics of their own school day activities. An item of curiosity to former students is the one cup recently unearthed which bears no engraving or date and which no one yet has been able to account for satisfactorily. Sport enthusiasts of the high school are hoping that some athlete of ancient days will identify the trophy so that record of another notable enterprise may be kept.

Although the trophy case is already well filled, there is still room for more trophies, and the outlay of treasured cups in view at all times remains a constant challenge to present day athletes to produce teams that can win similar honors.

QUESTION MAN

Detectives Believe Approximate Scene of Killing Is Determined

Cincinnati, Mar. 24—Believing they had determined the approximate scene of the killing of Harold H. Fitch, whose bullet-riddled body was found Saturday on a suburban road near here, detectives today planned to further question Harry Turney, 27, who has been ordered held as a material witness in the case.

Turney was lodged in the county jail here after investigators learned from his neighbors in Reading, O., a suburb, that shots were heard in that vicinity early Saturday morning.

Fitch, suspected of having participated to some degree in the operations of a Cleveland-Columbus-Cincinnati liquor running ring, was believed to have been killed in a hijacking war, detectives said today.

MAYOR HAZEN IS BEING URGED TO STAY IN FIELD

W. C. Wooley, Former County Commissioner, Mentioned as Possible Candidate

Although the date for the 1927 city primary election is more than four months off, conjectures and predictions as to who are likely to be candidates for municipal offices—and why—are beginning to take form, with probability that in the course of a few weeks there will be some definite information available regarding prospective nominees.

Interest at this time naturally centers on the mayoralty and right now there is an atmosphere of partial uncertainty surrounding the situation.

Mayor Hazen says he has not fully decided whether he will seek a second term, although persons closely associated with him say that he will be a candidate. The mayor indicated today that he will make an announcement one way or the other in a short time.

Should the city's chief executive enter the arena again—and there is every reason to believe that such will be his decision—it is not likely that he will be opposed for the Republican nomination. At least that is the forecast made by party leaders, despite the fact that during the last few weeks there have been rumors of a possible opponent.

Wooley Mentioned

These rumors mentioned W. C. Wooley, former president of the Board of County Commissioners, as the man who might try to take the present mayor's measure in the primary election. Yesterday, however, Mr. Wooley stated that he has no intention of being a candidate. He admitted, however, that he had been approached by a number of his friends who urged him to get into the race.

J. L. Landes, the present city auditor, will be a candidate for re-election. This comes from a perfectly authoritative source—in fact, from the auditor himself.

Geran Sought

City Solicitor George T. Geran, recently appointed to that office to fill out the term of Grant E. Mouser, Jr., who resigned to become associated with the attorney general of the state as special counsel, says that he is being urged to be a candidate to succeed himself but has come to no decision.

The solicitor states that when he accepted the appointment he had no thought of entering the race next fall and gave the matter no consideration until a number of persons recently importuned him to run and assured him their support.

Friends of Mr. Geran point to his extensive experience in the handling of city affairs and his thorough familiarity with municipal laws as a strong argument for retaining him in office.

Practically all political discussions now current relate solely to prospective republican candidates, probably due to the fact that city government here is now practically in complete control of officials representing the G. O. P.

Only Democrat

T. J. Mead, councilman from the second ward, is the only democrat now holding an elective city office. He is serving his second term and is not likely to be a candidate again, although he has made no formal announcement.

Hector S. Young, head of the democratic organization in Marion County, states that he has heard practically no comment on city politics and has no knowledge of any prospective candidacies for next fall.

Bert J. Shelton, chairman of the republican County Central Committee, states that his party's plans for the campaign are also in the embryo stage and that he looks for no activities of any appreciable proportions until later in the spring.

All but two members of City Council are serving their first terms and are planning to seek re-election. They are the president, Emery E. Murphy, Ralph B. Good and R. E. Prettyman, councilmen at large, J. A. Wilkins, member from the first ward, John L. Owens, third ward and Charles D. Schmidt, fourth ward.

Mr. Mead of the second ward and A. H. Williams, councilman at large, are the only members now on their second terms and neither is likely to be a candidate again unless pressed into the race by his friends.

New Council

Beginning with next year, council will consist of nine members instead of seven, due to the city having been redistricted into six wards as a substitute for the present four-ward arrangement.

This will result in some of the present councilmen being changed to new wards but is not expected to affect their chances for re-election, as the redistricting has not disturbed the political alignment. The two new wards are located south of Center-st in a territory that is strongly republican throughout.

This is by no means a guarantee that Republican candidates are certain of election, however, party leaders assert. They point to records of past elections to show that Marion voters are strongly inclined to disregard party lines in making their choice of city officials.

Primary Date

Tuesday, Aug. 9, is the date for the primary, when nominations will be made for all elective city offices from mayor on down. Declarations of candidacy must be filed 60 days prior to that date, however, so that all persons who have any intention of trying their luck with the more or less fickle voters may be expected to come out into the open with their plans in the course of a few weeks.

BOY DECLARES WOMAN, NOT MAN, DID MURDER

Asserts Father Not Guilty of Killing His Step-Mother

McArthur, Mar. 23 — A gruesome story of the revenge of a "woman scorned" was being unfolded from the witness chair in common pleas court here today, at the trial of Arthur Stout, 33, son of a well-to-do farmer, for the murder of his step-mother, Mrs. Sarah Stout.

The prosecution took a sensational turn, when Arthur Stout, Jr., 13, testified that Mrs. Inez Palmer, common law wife of his father, committed the murder for which his father is on trial.

The boy testified that he accompanied Mrs. Palmer to the home of Mrs. Stout, where the woman requested the loan of a gun. As Mrs. Stout went to a closet to get the weapon, he declared, Mrs. Palmer struck the aged woman on the head with an iron bar, and then directed him to pour gasoline on her body and light it, after she had choked the unconscious victim. Young Stout said he carried out Mrs. Palmer's instructions.

The contention of the state is that Mrs. Stout was murdered because she had criticized the action of Arthur Stout and Mrs. Palmer in living together out of wedlock, and had caused the arrest of Stout on a statutory charge growing out of the relationship. Another sensational turn was given the trial when Dr. B. V. Skinner testified that Mrs. Palmer had given birth to a child which later mysteriously disappeared.

Mrs. Palmer was called as a state witness but refused to testify.

Quarter of a Hundred Years Old

The quarter-century milepost of the foundation of this Company is reached this year. From an unpretentious start, the Company's progress has been notable in mercantile history.

This has not been simply because of its remarkable growth, but more noticeably on account of the success its many stores have attained in giving a service to the public that has been idealized by customers.

Through all the 25 years, the concern of the Company has been chiefly in providing high standard quality goods at lowest possible prices and safeguarding its customers so that this service might always be enjoyed by them.

Day after day and year after year, the Company in every way, has endeavored to serve the public better than was expected. That it has succeeded in these endeavors is shown by the fact that the combined sales of all its stores in 1926 were approximately $19,000,000 more than in 1925.

Eliminate Seven Teams in First Round of Cage Meet

Agosta Lunas, Hubers, and Juniors of '26 Survive Initial Class A Games

Lunas Defeat Business College, 22 to 20, in Hot Battle, but Hubers and Juniors Have Little Trouble with Kappas and Pleasant, Respectively

FIRST ROUND
Class A
Agosta Lunas 22, Business College 20.
Huber 45, Kappa Alpha Phi 20.
Juniors of '26, 38, Pleasant Independents 15.

AGOSTA LUNAS, Hubers, and the Juniors of 1926 survived the first round of play in the Class A division of the second annual Marion County basketball tournament last night on the upper gym court of the Y. M. C. A.

Counting the five teams that were lucky enough to draw byes for the first round, there are now eight quintets left in Class A. The five to go into the second round without playing are Kirkpatrick All-Stars, Martel Lion Tamers, K. of C.'s, East Side Aces, and Howitzer Co.

Agosta Lunas had a tough time downing the fighting Marion Business College basketeers, 22 to 20, in the first battle of the tourney. They were trailing 6 to 4 at the end of the first quarter, the scrappy Boblentz at center being the only Luna able to connect with the bucket. The first period was more or less a battle for supremacy between Belt and Boblentz. Belt is but-off man for the Collegians. He made four points in the initial period.

Strengthened by the presence of Johnson at guard in the last few minutes of the half, the Agosta quintet dropped in two buckets and tied the score at the eight-point mark just before the whistle blew for the close of the half.

Lunas Lead

The final half was a different story. The Lunas led all the way, getting an early start when Johnson, shifted to center, deposited the sphere in the netted bucket. Pfeifer made the Collegians' lone point in the third period via the free throw route while the Agosta lads chalked up six points. The score at the end of the period was 14 to 9 with the Lunas on top. The local boys made a desperate effort to tie the score during the last eight minutes but were still two points from their goal when the final whistle sounded.

The Huber-Kappa Alpha Phi clash was not a basketball game. It was a massacre, with the Huber lads wielding the axe. The final score was 45 to 20.

Getting away to a slow start, Hubers were leading only four counters at the end of the initial period, 8 to 4. The second quarter was a little better for the leaders and the half closed 16 to 11, in favor of Hubers. E. Ringert and Miley were the shining lights on Hubers during the first portion of the contest, each making three field goals. Strine at center seemed unable to get going.

Huber Massacre

In the second half, Hubers stepped out. Strine began hitting the bucket and Miley continued his good work. In an effort to stop the fast traveling Strine, the Kappas were inflicted with foul after foul. Strine made seven free throws out of a possible 12 attempts. J. Ringert and Chenoweth also strutted their stuff in the last minutes and when the final whistle sounded, the Huber quintet was leading 45 to 20.

Dick McAninch played one of the guard positions on the Kappa outfit but was unable to do a whole lot due to the defense of the Huber crew.

And then the Harding Juniors of 1926, consisting of Ben Gilmore, Joe Drake, Willey, Gillis, Chuck Noyes and Ralph Lewis took the floor against a team christened as the Pleasant Independents, which was, more or less, the same outfit playing in the Intermediate Church League under the name of the Lutherans from south of the city. The final score was 38 to 15, with Joe Drake making 18 of the Juniors' points.

Juniors Are Good

The Juniors, winners of the Senior division of the county tourney last year, look like the possible coming champions. Of course, their opposition last night was not all that it might have been but the pep and fight of the Juniors was evident at all times. They're all plenty good with Joe Drake getting "hot" on the basket shooting, en Gilmore made four field goals. The gaurding of Lewis left nothing to be desired.

The Juniors were the best team on the floor last night. But they paid for the victory. Willey will probably be unable to take part in the tournament during the remainder of the games. He received an injured ankle last night and was carried from the court. Then, with only two minutes to play, Ben Gilmore collided with a Pleasant cager and sustained a severe cut beneath his right eye. He was able to continue the game but the seriousness of the injury may hinder his playing during the games Friday night.

Games Friday

Kirkpatrick All-Stars and Martel Lion Tamers will tie up in the first game of the second round at 7 o'clock, Friday night. Caseys and Aces come next at 7:45, Howitzers meet Agosta Lunas at 8:30, and Hubers and Midgets take the floor at 9:15 o'clock. All Class A games are being played on the upper court at the Y. M. C. A.

THIRTY HORSES READY FOR GRAND NATIONAL

Liverpool, England, Mar. 24—Nearly thirty horses are prepared today for the Grand National tomorrow — the world's greatest test of horseflesh.

The Aintree course has been put in excellent shape. It is the hardest course any horse and rider could be asked to face. There are sixteen fences— the first fourteen of which must be negotiated twice. The prize money for the winner of this race will total $35,000. Betting is extremely heavy.

SUES MULLEN

Chicago, Mar. 24—James Mullen, boxing promoter, was defendant today in a $50,000 suit filed by Earl Irwin, Chicago ticket broker. Irwin charges that on the night of Feb. 24, he was struck over the head with a cane in the hands of Mullen while the plaintiff was engaged in selling tickets to the Dave Shade-Wolcott Langford fight, promoted by the defendant.

MYSTERY OF THE POPULAR CIGAR

We admit, Mr. Smoker, it is a mystery. We confess that right in our own factory there are differences of opinion as to the main reason for the growing popularity of San Felice at 5c. Is it that mild blend, the delightful aroma, the smoothness, or the mellowness that makes San Felice such a big favorite? To meet the increasing demand we have had to enlarge our weekly production on San Felice by the millions. What feature in your opinion, Mr. Smoker, is responsible for winning so many new men to San Felice? Try one today, and see for yourself if San Felice isn't that mild, smooth, fragrant and mellow cigar you are looking for.

Because he got into the major leagues with that first name.

Because the Athletic team has been shaken up so much in the eight years he has been with it that no one realizes Clarence has been there that long.

Because he is ready for his ninth season undismayed by the fact that Connie paid $125,000 for a man to fill his shoes last winter.

And because the students at Presbyterian College of South Carolina knew he'd make good when he left that institution after three years on the ball team.

Two Pennsylvania High School Girls' Basketball Teams Lose in Meet

Wichita, Kan., Mar. 24—The East was practically out of the running today as battle lines formed for second round play in the National high school girls' basketball tournament.

The elimination of the two Pennsylvania entries, Sharon and Franklin, furnished the big upset of first round play. Sharon, winner of the National title last year, lost to Thomas, Okla., and the "dark horse" of the meet, by the score of 36 to 14.

Franklin, Quaker State champions, went down before the strong Lawton, Okla., five, 30 to 13. The Lawton girls were champions of Oklahoma and rated one of the best teams in the meet.

Preparing for Next Year's Classic Events; Holds 40,000 People

Amsterdam, Mar. 24—Although the Olympic games will not be held until next year Amsterdam is completing at full speed the construction of the new stadium projected by the Dutch architect Jan Wils.

The Amsterdam soil being rather marshy the whole ground had to be raised by two meters of sand. No less than 750,000 cubic meters of sand were used for the purpose. Moreover 4,425 piles had to be driven into the swampy earth.

The square surface of the stadium will amount to 16 hectares, and including the motor park and training grounds, 52 hectares. esides the stadium proper—center court of the Olympic games—there will be a swimming stadium, buildings for fencing and athletics, a cricket and hockey court and a tennis stadium, consisting of three central courts and ten training grounds. There will be vast exhibition halls for the Art Competition and a postoffice. The cycling track will be 500 meters.

The stadium proper will hold 40,000 people, 20,000 of whom can be seated. The pressmen will have 600 seats at their disposal with a special entrance.

"Uncle Steve" Phillips Enters Sixtieth Season

Lebanon, O., Mar. 23—"Uncle Steve" Phillips, owner trainer and driver of five Grand Circuit horses has taken his string of racers to Dayton to prepare for his sixtieth racing season, although he will celebrate his 85th birthday anniversary Mar. 27. He is the only living member of the famous Grand Circuit "Big Four," which included "Pop" Geers, Sam Kees and Charles Fourth.

In July, 1879, Phillips established a record that has never been equaled. In a "David Harum" deal, "Uncle Steve" became the possessor of a blind pacer known as Sleepy Tom, value $20. After a few weeks' training Phillips drove the blind pacer over a mile track in 2:12¾, a driver-owner record that has never been reached.

This season "Uncle Steve" is training Bengin Todd, Bengin the Great, Gertrude Direct, Bindillon, and Rex Forbes at the Dayton half mile oval, and will drive Bengin Todd in the Grand Circuit races at Toledo in competition for the $10,000 grand prize offered for the winner.

Although this is his sixtieth season as a professional reinsman, "Uncle Steve" drove as an amateur about Waynesville and Xenia before taking harness racing seriously.

BUCK WEAVER SIGNS WITH SEMI-PRO CLUB

Niesen Baseball Club of Chicago Gets "Black Sox" of 1919 Scandal

Chicago Mar. 24—Buck Weaver, former star third baseman of the Chicago White Sox who was banished from organized baseball following the World series' scandal of 1919, has been signed by the Niesen Club of the Midwest semi-pro baseball association, it was announced today.

William Niesen, club owner, admitted that Weaver had signed a contract to play with the Chicago semi-pros. It will be Buck's first appearance in uniform before local fans since his banishment as one of the so-called "Black Sox."

Niesen defended his action on the grounds that professional baseball was not of "lily white," that it was "only human" and subject to error and indiscretion. He said that since the public demanded that Cobb and Speaker be cleared of scandal charges based on the word of Dutch Leonard, he thought it only fair to give Weaver a chance since he was involved only on the word of of Cicotte, "Black Sox" pitcher.

Weaver was overjoyed at his chance to get back in the game.

Midgets Loom as Class B "Dark Horse" as They Trim Central Juniors Basketeers

Vocational Preps, Epworth M. E. and Junior Midgets Also Survive Initial Round; Epworth Quintet and Midgets Are Best So Far in "B" Division

FIRST ROUND
Class B
Vocational Preps 19, Harding Hi-Y No. 2, 15.
Epworth M. E. 31, Central Hi-Y 4.
Junior Midgets 21, St. Paul's Episcopal 13.
Midgets 29, Central Junior High 23.

THE fast-stepping Midget outfit last night loomed as the "dark horse" of the Class B division in the annual Marion County amateur basketball tournament. Playing a superior brand of ball, the Midgets downed the Central Juniors, always great rivals, by a score of 29 to 23, in what will probably prove to be one of the greatest battles of the tourney.

Vocational Preps, Epworth M. E., and Junior Midgets were the others to survive the first round of play in Class B. Those who drew byes and went into the second round without playing in the first section are Harding Hi-Y No. 1, Lutherans, Wildcats and Five Basketeers.

The Midget crew last night showed better form than ever before during the present season and are due to give the best of 'em a tussle for the championship of the county if they continue the good work.

Midgets Lead

The score at the end of the half was 11 to 8, Midgets on top. They were never overtaken and were really never seriously threatened during the second half. Anthony and Robbins led the scrappy outfit and Eddie Sawyer of Galion High, Harriman, Myers and Perry, were the other members of the quintet. Robbins and Anthony each made 10 points.

With the score standing 29 to 20 against them, the Juniors made a final desperate attempt to tie the score but drew up at the 23-point mark as the whistle blew. McDaniels and Adams played the best game for the Juniors.

The Vocational Preps had a little surprise last night in the first game of the initial round. They had a hard time defeating the Harding Hi-Y No. 2 cagers. The final score gave them only a four-point margin. Just how long the Vocational Preps will last when they strike the Harding Hi-Y No. 1 crew is a matter of conjecture.

Tuttle played a nice game at c and incidentally connected for counters. Homeston at forward showed up well with three buck Schweiafurth and Houghton were Hi-Y mainstays.

The flashiest team on the court night in Class B was Epworth M With Garrett and Evans at forw any team is certain to look good, then we find Stafford and Bus M rison at guards. That makes th look a little better. At any rate, Epworth crew last night defeated Central Hi-Y, 31 to 4.

But none of the stars mentio above made the majority of points night. Purdridge at forward went in the first half and scored five goals. He made another in the half. Morrison and Stafford played at guards and Evans and Garrett, in the game, made three and two bas each, respectively.

Biddle and Schott each made a throw for Central Hi-Y's counter the first half and Williams made lone field goal for the remainder of

Marion Athletics' First Practice Session, April 10

Familiar Faces to Appear in Lineup of Local Ball Club During 1927 Season

Then there's another gentleman entitled Lefty Beiler, claiming his home as Youngstown, who may show up here during the practice sessions in search for a position as first baseman.

Bacon will probably again be found at second and Foster Buckland on third. Rex Donelson is not yet certain just what he will do. He played Shortstop for the Athletics last year and may again go after the job.

Rowan, Price, Reese

Rowan, Price, and Reese at present promise to be the three musketeers in the outfield. Rowan, now in Galion, may be found in left field, Glen Price will be seen in the center garden, and Reese, of Bucyrus, promises to take his old place in right field. Reese is also famed as a bang-up relief pitcher.

Yes, it looks like about all the Marion outfit needs now is a few of the kinks rolled out of Lincoln Park. Tin cans, stones, deep cavities and other unnecessaries have full control of the grounds at present. And then there's the old rickety wire netting in front of the grandstand. If somebody doesn't take a hand and fix that, we really feel sorry for the fans who sit directly back of it, when the season gets under way.

First Game May 1

The first regular scheduled game is set for May 1 when the Athletics will tie up with Springfield on the local diamond. Several other splendid teams have been booked and, as a rule, entertainment by larger and better clubs is promised Marion fans this season. The Athletics are going to have a real team and they will bring real outfits into the city to play them.

Among those scheduled for the season is the Homestead Greys of Pennsylvania, one of the greatest colored Nines to ever don suits. They're coming here July 11, according to present arrangements. The Toledo Oldsmobiles, formerly the Toledo Elmores, and the noted Detroit Clowns, also are booked.

Others include the Richwines of Elyria, Columbus, Mendel Tailors and Massilon.

four points in the final portion of the game.

Junior Midgets Victors

Junior Midgets, a classy little foot machine, played a neat game against the St. Paul's Episcopals and came out on top with little trouble. The final score was 31 to 13, with the points being evenly distributed among the various players of each team.

The combination of Klingel and Messenger at forwards, annexed with Gillis and Walker at guards and Williams at center, has developed into one of the fastest and cleverest outfits in the Marion Junior division. They may spring a few surprises before the tourney comes to an end. Rinehart made nine of the 13 points credited the Episcopals.

Games Friday

Harding Hi-Y No. 1 will meet Vocational Preps in the first game of the second Class B round on the lower floor at 7 o'clock, Friday night. Lutherans will play Epworth in the second game at 7:45 o'clock. Wildcats will meet the Junior Midgets, and the Midgets will play the Five Basketeers.

Bohyer refereed the Class B games and Baldy Compton took care of the Class A events.

WOOSTER TENNIS

To Play Nine Matches At Wooster During Coming Season

Wooster, Mar. 24—The Wooster College tennis team will play nine matches this spring. The schedule has just been announced by E. M. Hole, acting director of athletics. For the last two years Wooster has hung up a splendid record in this branch of spring sports. Wooster netters have not lost a match in the two years. Two matches were ties and the rest were victories.

For the coming season Wooster has L. Bourns, Miller and McCabe who played varsity tennis last season. However this trio will find some competition in sophomore material eligible this spring for the first time. Five of the nine meets for this season are away from Wooster.

TRAINING CAMP CHATTER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. Mar. 24—Col. Jake Ruppert of the Yankees began to sign contracts today on his $2,750,000 investment. The Ruppert cloud of two homers yesterday as the Yanks downed the Boston Braves 16 to 7. Before the game Manager Huggins sent catcher Earl Williams to Hartford, shipped outfielder Elias Funk to St. Paul and sold infielder Spencer Adams to the St. Louis Browns.

World's Golf Champions Assemble for Greatest of All Southern Tourneys

Bobby Jones, Jesse Sweetser, Walter Hazen, Bobby Cruickshank, Willie MacFarlen, Jim Barnes and Many Other Stars Enter Tournament

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

Atlanta, Ga., Mar. 24—Robert T. Jones, Jr. wishes to announce that he will be "at home" today to a large and distinguished gathering of gentlemen in full golfing regalia at his country estate, East Lakewest Lake All Around the Lake.

Although a good host seldom forgets himself, it is feared Mr. Jones may not be receiving an impression, having gained credence that the guests may reverse the social order in this respect and receive until it hurts, mostly with the clubs. Professional golfers have been doing that for Mr. Jones in every champ and quarter three years and the charms of habit are welded steel.

But today they stand trying for the first time to take the slap on the course where Mr. Jones sank his original mashie niblick in earnest ear from the perambulator. Professional golfers are so philanthropic, aren't they? Odd, but I hadn't noticed that either.

Jones May Win

Mr. Jones, you see, may win his greatest of all southern open championships, beginning today with the first eighteen holes of the qualifying round, but sordid dollars are not for him and the tournament reeks of the distasteful stuff. It is, in fact, the greatest "money" tournament ever held anywhere.

In consequence, the boys have rallied around from tee, rear and intermediate points until there is hardly a professional golfer left outside the city limits. The local committee has shown those boys a prize list, totalling $12,000.

First Prize, $4,000

The first "pro" to finish will get $4,000 with twenty-nine remaining awards graduating down to and including fifty (50) dollars, the price of a water front lot in Kokomo, Ind., the daily financial with most but purely honorably with several, resulted in the following stampede of international talent:

Robert T. Jones, Jr., present champion of America and Great Britain.

Jesse W. Sweetser, present amateur champion of Great Britain.

Walter Hagen, present P. G. A. champion and former holder of American and British open titles.

Bobby Cruickshank, biggest money getter of the winter season and winner of the Los Angeles and Texas events.

Willie MacFarlen, Gene Sarazen and Cyril Walker, former national open champions.

Jim Barnes, once holder of both American and British open titles.

Jock Hutchinson, the first American to win the British open championship.

Others Yet

Toss in for seasoning Willie Burke, the caddie master who ran amuck in Florida this winter, Bill Mehlhorn, Leo Diegel, Clarence Hackney, Al Watrous, Emmett French, Johnny Farrell, Mike Brady, Bob Macdonald, Tommy Armour, Joe Turnesa, runner up to Jones at Columbus, Willie Klein, Al Espinosa and Watts Gunn, the amateur, and the pot is most palatable.

They laid seven to one against Bobby, I think, at the last national championship and the odds should be no better today. Macdonald Smith, Harry Cooper, George on Elm, present amateur champion, might be listed among the new absentees who could be figured seriously in any national meeting.

The qualifying round will be continued through to the thirty-six hole distances tomorrow, upon which the best sixty-four scores and ties will be sent on to the wire on Saturday when the full thirty-six holes will be played, making a grand total of 72.

Tough Course

And some of these totals will be grand, rather than glorious. Water holes, with heroic carries, around the course, in fact, the broad, shimmering lake never is entirely out of view. The water, however, is least of the impending grief.

With its small, undulating greens and well trapped fairways, East Lake affords a difficult medium for scoring under ordinary circumstances. Place $12,000 out in front of the field and the circumstance becomes about as ordinary as a mouthful of horse radish before breakfast.

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

Nibs said to ast him does his mother peddle fish, so he asted that and made him say she did if they were rotten enough, then Goop said, "Ast him to throw down a bucket of water and see what he says," so the poor fish spoke way down in his throat and said, "Can you throw me down a bucket of water, you little warts?" and before he could answer himself the real Banty said, "Squirtainly!" and down came the bucket of ice water all over him. By golly, I thought we would all laugh and holler ourselves to death, and the dogs almost barke ditheir heads off, and my father came out to see what was the matter, and the Lost Bag of Tripe was wet and so mad he was almost crying, and my father asted who wet him, and Banty said, "He asted me to throw him a bucket of water and I done it," and my father asted him if it was true, and he said, "Yes, but—" and my father didn't wait to hear the rest, because he was cold and wanted to get in by the fire. He went home because he would freeze going to school.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

There was to be nut pudding for supper that night in the hollow tree where Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrel boys lived, and they were very glad.

"There is nothing in all the world so good as a nut pudding!" chattered Billie when he had scampered home from school and smelled it baking in the oven. (I mean the pudding was baking, not the school.)

"Except, maybe, two nut puddings!" chuckled Johnnie.

"Oh, of course, two nut puddings are better than one," agreed Billie. And when Mrs. Bushytail heard her two little squirrels talking like this she laughed and said:

"You will find this one nut pudding large enough, I think!"

Soon, a little later in the evening, the nut pudding was put on the table in the hollow tree where the squirrels lived, the eyes of Johnnie and Billie glistened with delight. And when Billie had taken one taste of the pudding he chattered:

"Oh, I wish Uncle Wiggily had some of this!"

"So do I, echoed his brother. "Uncle Wiggily, being a rabbit, hasn't the right kind of teeth for gnawing the shells off nuts," went on Johnnie. "He can gnaw bark off trees, but not the shells off nuts. Though he could eat some of this pudding, for the nuts in it are shelled."

"I should hope they were shelled!" chattered Mrs. Bushytail. "I wouldn't make a pudding with nut shells in it. But if you would like Uncle Wiggily to have some of this pudding, why not take it to him?" she asked the boys.

"Or, better still," said Mr. Bushytail, "why not invite Uncle Wiggily over here to supper to help us eat the nut pudding? We have only just begun. Uncle Wiggily could easily hop here."

"I'll call him on the telephone," offered Mrs. Bushytail, who was rather proud of her nut puddings. But the telephone was out of order. Uncle Wiggily could not be reached and Johnnie chattered:

"I'll run over to his bungalow and tell him. I'll bring him back with me. I know he'll hop as fast as he can when I tell him about the nut pudding."

"Very well, Hurry along," said Mrs. Bushytail.

Leaving the table, where there was still plenty of nut pudding to be eaten, Johnnie scampered through the woods between his hollow tree house and the rabbit gentleman's bungalow.

"We'll wait about eating the rest of the meal until Johnnie gets back with Uncle Wiggily," said Mr. Bushytail. "It will be more polite."

But when ten minutes had passed, which was more than time enough for Johnnie to have reached the rabbit's bungalow and come back with him,

"Hurry along," said Mrs. Bushytail and when after five more minutes ticked away on the clock, Mrs. Bushytail murmured:

"I hope nothing has happened!"

"What could happen?" asked her husband.

"It is getting so dark," she went on, "maybe Johnnie got lost!"

"He should know his way around the woods by this time," objected Mr. Bushytail. "But perhaps he took a wrong path. "I'll go look for him, and also get Uncle Wiggily."

"I'll come with you!" offered Billie.

"No, you please stay here with me and help take care of the nut pudding!" chattered his mother.

Johnnie's father was soon at Uncle Wiggily's bungalow, but the rabbit gentleman had seen nothing of Johnnie.

"He must be lost in the woods!" said Mr. Longears. "I'll help you look for him!" So he and and the squirrel gentleman hopped through the woods.

"It is so dark I can't see!" chattered Mr. Bushytail.

"I'll get some fox fire and make it light!" offered Mr. Longears. "Then we'll find Johnnie."

"What is fox fire"? asked the squirrel. "I didn't think the Fox would give you any fire. And won't it burn?" Uncle Wiggily explained that fox fire was rotten wood that glowed like phosphorus, or radium, in the dark. It wasn't at all hot. And in an old, rotten stump Mr. Longears soon found a chunk of fox fire, which was like a lantern. With this lantern the rabbit and squirrel went through the woods, until, down in a dark, bosky dell, where he had lost his way, they found poor little Johnnie, half frightened out of his wits.

"But now you are all right!" his father told the little squirrel boy. "Uncle Wiggily found you with the fox fire, which really isn't fire at all, and no fox ever uses it." So they took Johnnie home and the rabbit gentleman said the nut pudding was wonderful. And if the goldfish will let the clock wash its hands in the swimming bowl, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and fat Billie.

DRIVES CAR AT SPEED OF 166.51 MILES AN HOUR

Major Segrave Handicapped as Crowds Rush Out on Test Track

Daytona, Fla., Mar. 24—Taking his huge "Mystery S," 1,000-horsepower automobile creation, out at dawn today in the hope of establishing a world record for the mile and the kilometer, Major H. O. D. Segrave, British race car pilot, traveled 166.51 miles per hour, but this one way record was not declared official due to interference on the test mile trap.

The first start was made at 7:13 o'clock and was over at 7:25 o'clock. Two runs were made in the records on both were broken by traps being sprung in spite of a police patrol that kept back the crowd estimated at 5,000 which lined the dunes since early this morning.

A cut right front tire necessitating a change, sticking of the motor at top speed, and the incoming tide halted further tests. Another test probably will be made early tomorrow. A northeast wind is improving the beach course.

Segrave passed Tommy Milton's record of 156.04 miles an hour but unofficially.

INDUSTRIALS GAIN BACK SOME OF GROUND LOST

Interest in Rails Centered in Reading, with 6-Point Boost

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks, steady; industrials, irregular; domestic bonds, steady; foreign bonds, steady; call money, 4½ per cent; grain irregular; copper, steady; oil, weak; cotton, irregular; rubber, irregular; sugar, reactionary; pig iron, steady; foreign exchange, steady.

New York, Mar. 24—The industrial stocks made further progress today in recovering the ground lost in the reactionary movements of the first part of the week. While prices fluctuated in a narrow radius, and in many cases moderate losses were sustained, the market at least displayed much firmer resistance to professional selling, and the speculative favorites were held strongly in line by the pools.

Segregation of Lackawanna's bond holdings was in line with expectations and had been quite accurately forecast. Traders were inclined to search out stocks of other companies with a chest-ful of good securities which might form the basis of similar melon-cutting in the near future, and Reading was boosted nearly 6 points to 110 1-2 on buying of this character.

The financial and business news of the day was favorable. The biggest question mark is that which concerns the probable actions of some of the outstanding characters and companies in the automotive industry, including Durant, Ford, General Motors, Studebaker, Dodge, Clarence Dillon, etc. Durant promises some startling disclosures for automobile owners and investors.

LOANS up to $500

St. Patrick patron saint of Ireland, lived many centuries ago (about the year 380), but his memory is as fresh today as though he were of the present or past generation. Widely varying views have been held by modern scholars with regard to his activities, some going so far as to treat his noble labors as the created fancies of a later age. But there appears to be little dispute in tradition with regard to his divine call from Rome to Ireland, where his work for humanity caused him to be canonized. Among the many beneficial things that he did was to drive all the snakes out of old Ireland.

The City Loan has no superhuman power—it makes no such rash claim, of course—but it can drive dull care and financial worries out of your system for you. It is our pride to qualify as specialists in the business of making helpful loans.

Half-Mill State Levy and Gas Tax Boost Proposed

SENATE, HOUSE INDORSE BOTH SUGGESTIONS

One-Cent Increase on Motor Fuel Would Yield $7,000,000 Per Year

Columbus, Mar. 24—In separate caucuses here today, Republican members of the Ohio Senate and House of Representatives were to be urged to approve contemplated action at the present session providing for a half-mill direct state tax levy and for increasing the state gasoline tax from two to three cents per gallon.

At a joint conference late Wednesday members of the senate and house special committees indorsed both these proposals and arranged to submit their recommendations for caucus ratification today.

It is proposed that the half-mill tax levy shall be in effect only one year and be placed on the June tax duplicate for collection. It was estimated that the levy would yield approximately $6,500,000 in state revenues, $4,500,000 of which would be used as state aid for weak school districts, and the balance for educational institutions, for additions and betterments.

Would Yield $7,000,000

The proposed one-cent gasoline tax increase is expected to yield about $7,000,000 a year, all of which would be used by the state highway department for highway construction. It was proposed that 60 per cent of the $7,000,000 be used in any manner the highway department deemed necessary—while the remaining 40 per cent would be spent in the 88 counties of the state on the basis of the motor vehicle population of each county.

In order to wipe out the $13,000,000 deficit expected to exist in the state treasury July 1, next, the senate and house special committees confronted the task today of devising taxation plans for raising an additional $2,500,000 a year. Members of these committees, it was learned here, will consider proposals that taxes be levied upon amusements and the sale of cigarets.

Passes Kounier Bill

The house today will be asked to concur in the action of the senate which late yesterday passed, by a vote of 25 to 6, the Kounier bill, increasing the state excise tax on certain utilities from 1.20 to 1.35 per cent. This increase is expected to yield about $500,000 a year additional revenue to the state.

The senate may take action today on the Aigler bill which seeks to increase the state franchise corporation tax from one-twelfth of one per cent, based upon net worth, to one-eighth of one per cent, based upon the book values of outstanding shares. The senate taxation committee late Wednesday reported the Aigler bill out with a favorable recommendation for passage. The Aigler bill is estimated to increase the state's revenues approximately $2,000,000 a year.

The house is asked to concur in the action of the senate which passed the Price Bill, transferring administration of the state gasoline tax act from the state tax commission to the secretary of state, and the Lefever Bill, authorizing the state utilities commission to appoint attorney examiners to aid in the work of the commission, and transferring control to the commission's employes from the state director of commerce to the commission.

Goes to Governor

The senate having concurred in the action of the house in passing the Burnett-Shafer Bill, permitting county commissioners to increase allowance to blind persons, the bill now goes to the governor.

The Longhead Bill, preventing teachers from being removed except for cause, passed the senate and now goes to the house.

By a vote of 81 to 28, the house passed the Creighton Bill. Increasing the penalties for driving motor vehicles while intoxicated. The bill, which now goes to the senate, authorizes revocation of a driver's right to drive for six months, if convicted and a $100 fine and 30 days imprisonment. Persons convicted of at least two such offenses may be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than a year nor more than five years. Persons who violate a court order not to drive may be imprisoned in the county jail from six months to a year.

A resolution, introduced by Rep. H. S. Marshall, Cincinnati, awaiting action by the house, seeks to direct the state director of highways to obtain fireproof offices for the state industrial commission and fireproof receptacles for the protection of the records of the commission and for the security bonds purchased by the commission with a portion of the state insurance fund.

The resolution points out that the present quarters now occupied by the industrial commission in the Ohio Building, at E. Main and S. Fourth-sts, here possesses fire hazards.

STUDENTS FROM HIGH SCHOOLS ATTEND REVIVAL

Delegation of Pupils Hear Evangelist Taylor at Epworth M. E. Church

Delegations from Harding High School, Central Junior High School and from the various departments of the Epworth M. E. Church Sunday School, were present at the exceptionally well attended young peoples' evangelistic service last night at Epworth Church.

Evangelist Myron E. Taylor preached on the subject, "A Notable Victory" saying, in part, "There is a greater victory than was ever won on the battle-fields of the world, and that is the victory over the downward pull of one's sinful nature, and over the elements of a sinful world which militates against real success. Life is a struggle from the cradle to the grave, and he who is not willing to fight for his rights, is doomed to defeat. Even fighting in one's own strength alone has only failure ahead. The men and women who have made a real success of life, from God's viewpoint as well as from man's are those who have pulled down into their life supernatural power through faith in Christ," he concluded.

Many Respond

A large number of people responded to the invitation to the altar, issued at the close of the service.

Under the direction of Gilbert Otteson, the chorus choir sang several beautiful selections.

"All-state" and "all-church" night is to be held tonight, at which time states and churches will vie with one another for the honor of having the largest delegation in attendance. Reverend Taylor will preach on the subject, "A Greater Detective Than Burns" and the Osgood Quartet will be heard in a musical program.

SUPPOSE YOU WERE A MIND READER

And knew just what was going on in your friend's mind when you asked him for a little timely financial assistance; or could fathom your uncle's innermost thoughts when you suggested to him that he just sign a note for you for ninety days; or if you guessed why that glint came to the eyes of the boss, and he gritted his teeth softly when you wanted your money again a week before it was earned—then there would be no difficulty in convincing you that the proper place for you to borrow your money is the Marion Chattel Loan Company, 136 S. State-st.

There is a real place for you, where the money is always waiting and where the obligation ends the minute the last dollar is paid. No bad after effects, that makes borrowing from individuals or putting yourself under obligation to others so distasteful.—Adv.
